

All Blacks Rugby Clinic Singapore 2026: Queenstown Five-Day Programme Guide

Description

default watermark

All Blacks Rugby Clinic Singapore 2026 is a serious June programme for young rugby players, not a casual one-hour taster. It runs from 8 to 12 June at Queenstown Stadium, from 9am to 4pm each day.

The listed coaches include former All Blacks and Rugby World Cup winners Nehe Milner-Skudder and Victor Vito, with the clinic built around skill work, tactical development, conditioning and mindset.

Dates, Venue And Fee

- Dates: 8 to 12 June 2026.
- Time: 9am to 4pm.
- Venue: Queenstown Stadium, listed as TBC on the event details.
- Fee: S$750.
- Lunch and snacks are included.

What Players Can Expect

The programme combines technical and tactical training with strength and conditioning, leadership, recovery and insight into the All Blacks culture. That makes it a better fit for players who can handle a full-day training rhythm.

Parents should check the childâ??s current rugby experience, heat tolerance and recovery needs before booking. A five-day block from 9am to 4pm is demanding even for children who already play regularly.

Other Rugby Options

Younger or newer players can compare this with the Get Into Rugby 2.0 programme, which is structured as a non-contact pathway. Families looking at broader endurance sport can also read LBRDâ??s Singapore International Marathon 2026 registration guide.

Location Notes

- Queenstown Stadium

Booking, registration or visitor details are on the All Blacks Rugby Clinic Singapore 2026 page.

Date Created
26/05/2026
Author
jadeyeo

default watermark