The COURTS Black Friday sale code BF2026 gives 18 per cent off with no minimum spend, or 22 per cent off with S$399 and above, online only until 30 November 2026. The catch is that it is limited to the first 500 redemptions, so it may be gone before the last day. Here are the tiers, the exclusions and the category codes that sit alongside it, all taken from the COURTS promo code page.

COURTS Black Friday sale code BF2026: the two tiers

Enter BF2026 at checkout on courts.com.sg between 23 and 30 November 2026. The discount is sitewide, with exclusions listed further down.

- 18% off with no minimum spend, capped at S$120.
- 22% off with a minimum spend of S$399, capped at S$199.
- Limited to the first 500 redemptions.

The cap matters. The 18% tier hits its S$120 ceiling at roughly S$667 of spend, and the 22% tier hits S$199 at roughly S$905. A S$450 order would save about S$99, while a S$1,200 order saves the full S$199. The sale banner also advertises free delivery, with conditions applying.

What BF2026 does not cover

This is where people get caught. COURTS lists the exclusions on the promo code page, and they are long.

- Limited Sets, More Discount items and Online Exclusive Deals.
- Action cameras, aircons, drones, printers and TVs.
- Products from Apple, Dyson, Fotile, Fujioh, Garmin, Insta360, Microsoft, Nintendo, Osim, Sony and Tableholic.
- It cannot be stacked with other sitewide discounts or discount vouchers.

Orders placed with a promo code or an advertised limited set cannot be cancelled or amended once you receive the order acknowledgement email. So double-check the model number and delivery slot before you confirm.

Category codes that run alongside it

Some shoppers will do better with a category code than with BF2026, especially on big-ticket items. COURTS says these cannot be combined with another discount voucher, so you pick one per order.

- SSAVER26: S$120 off S$1,200, S$180 off S$1,500 or S$300 off S$2,000 on home appliances (TV and aircon excluded), while stocks last, online only.
- 50LDA: S$50 off every S$500 on large appliances, capped at S$1,000 off, while stocks last, online only.
- COM: S$60 off S$1,000 up to S$450 off S$5,000 on Windows laptops, CoPilot+ PCs and desktops (Apple and Asus excluded), while stocks last.
- SOFA15: 15% off with no minimum spend, or 20% off at S$2,000 and above, on sofas and sofa beds, 1 to 30 November 2026.
- BED15: 15% off mattresses and bed frames, 1 to 30 November 2026.
- OFFICE20: 20% plus 5% off home office items, 1 to 30 November 2026.

Which code to use

For a washing machine, fridge or other large appliance, run the maths on 50LDA against BF2026. A S$1,500 fridge saves S$150 under 50LDA (three lots of S$500), but BF2026 gives 22%, or S$199 with the cap. For a S$2,000 appliance, SSAVER26â??s S$300 beats the S$199 cap.

For laptops, COM is the one to look at if you are buying above S$1,700, where the discount reaches S$100. For a sofa over S$2,000, SOFA15 gives 20% with no cap, and that wins easily.

Before you pay

Redemptions are first come, first served, so if BF2026 has run out at checkout, try the category codes above. All of these are online only, and the shop floor is a separate story. COURTS says other terms and conditions apply, and the full wording is on the promo code page.

If you are tracking other sales before they end on Monday, see our Black Friday 2026 round-up, the Microsoft Store offers and the Samsung Galaxy S26 Ultra deal. Codes and caps were checked on 27 November 2026.
