What is on the spread

The hotel restaurant lists the Penang run from 22 June to 10 September 2026, curated by Penang-born assistant chef de cuisine Jason Ang. The booking page points to live stations and signature plates such as chef's Penang assam laksa, kam heong mud crab, baked sambal stingray in banana leaf, udang masak lemak nenas, grilled char siew lamb flap, five spice grilled chicken wing and Penang char kuey teow with cockle.

Eatbook and other listings put the rotation at more than 40 Penang dishes. Full rack rates on the SevenRooms booking page are weekday lunch S$60++ adult and S$30++ child (6 to 12), weekend lunch S$70++ / S$35++, weekday dinner S$70++ / S$35++, and weekend dinner S$80++ / S$40++. Children below six dine free. Prices are before 10 per cent service charge and GST.

How the S$30++ maths works

Lunch Dine 4 Pay 2 is still listed for the Penang window, so four adults pay for two. That brings weekday lunch to S$30++ per adult and weekend lunch to S$35++. The older dinner Dine 4 Pay 3 line ended on 5 September 2026.

From 6 to 10 September 2026, Aloft Turns 3! prices a second diner at S$3++ for every full-paying adult, with a minimum of four diners per table. That anniversary deal applies across lunch and dinner.

Hours and booking

Lunch is noon to 2.30pm on weekdays and noon to 3pm on weekends and public holidays. Dinner is 6pm to 9.30pm daily. Book on the 21 On Rajah SevenRooms experience page; the restaurant line is +65 6808 6847. The venue is halal-certified. A Vietnamese buffet is flagged to start on 11 September 2026 after Penang closes.
