

REDLINE Fitness Games Singapore 2027

Date	Saturday 23 January 2027, from 8am
Venue	Singapore EXPO Hall 3, 1 Expo Drive
Singles	S$139 (early bird sold out)
Doubles	S$139 per person, captain buys 2
Team Relay	S$119 per person, captain buys 4
Fees	Prices exclude portal transaction fees and tax

Illustration: LBRD, from redlinefitnessgames.com/en/singapore, read 29 November 2026

REDLINE Fitness Games comes to Singapore EXPO on 23 January: 12 stations, with Singles entries at S$139 now early birds are gone

Description

default watermark

REDLINE Fitness Games, a functional fitness race that began in Kuala Lumpur in 2023, comes to Singapore on Saturday 23 January 2027 at Singapore EXPO Hall 3, 1 Expo Drive. The organiserâ??s Singapore page shows the 500 early bird places have sold out, so entries are now at the regular price: S$139 for Singles, S$139 a person for Doubles and S$119 a person for a four-person Team Relay.

The format is 12 workout stations in a fixed order, raced alone, with a partner or as a team. The organiser says a race takes between 30 and 55 minutes, depending on fitness level and category. ActiveSG Circle lists the event day as 8am to 8pm.

REDLINE Singapore 2027 entry prices at the regular rate. Illustration: LBRD, from the REDLINE Fitness Games Singapore page

The 12 stations

The 2027 race runs through the stations below in this order. The organiser changes two or three of them every year.

- 500m run
- SkiErg
- Deadball over shoulder

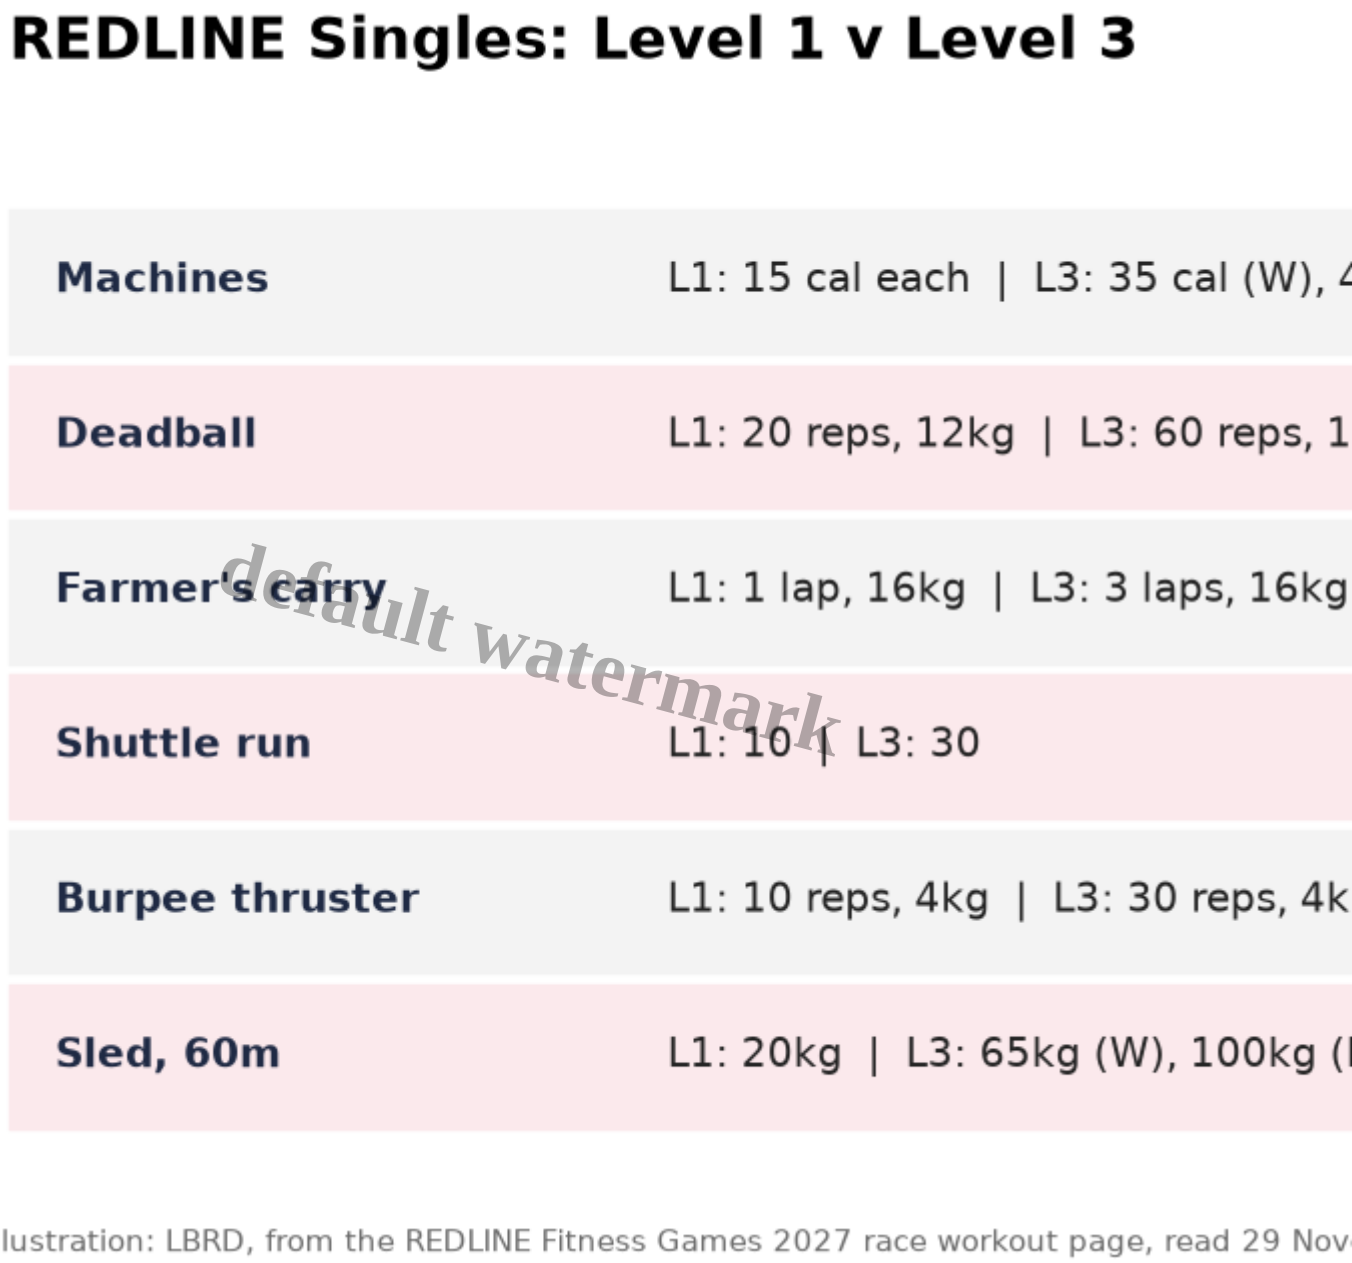
- BikeErg
- Farmerâ??s carry, a walking loop holding two kettlebells
- Shuttle run, 20m repeats touching the floor with two feet and one hand at each end
- Plank pull, dragging a loaded battle rope while holding a plank
- Sandbag gauntlet, squats and walking lunges carrying a sandbag
- Row erg
- Burpee thruster, a burpee followed by a wall ball pushed overhead
- The Mule, fast carries with progressively heavier sandbags
- Sled push and pull, the final station

Which category to pick

Singles has three levels for men and women. At Level 1 (Beginner) the workload is identical for both: 15 calories each on the SkiErg, BikeErg and rower, 20 deadball reps at 12kg, one farmerâ??s carry lap with 16kg, 10 shuttle runs, 10 burpee thrusters with a 4kg ball and 60m of sled push and pull at 20kg. The sandbag gauntlet at this level is 20m without a listed weight.

default watermark

Level 2 (Intermediate) and Level 3 (Advanced) scale up the reps and loads. At Level 3 men push and pull a 100kg sled and do 45 calories on each machine, women at Level 3 work with a 65kg sled and 35 calories.



Level 1 against Level 3 at six of the 12 stations. Illustration: LBRD, from the REDLINE Fitness Games race workout page Doubles partners share the work and can swap as often as they like. Menâ??s Doubles carries the menâ??s Level 3 workload, and Womenâ??s and Mixed Doubles the womenâ??s Level 3. In the Team Relay each of the four members completes three stations in a row. Menâ??s, womenâ??s and mixed versions exist for both; a mixed relay team is two women and two men.

You can enter one Singles race and also a Doubles or Team Relay race, but not more than one Singles category.

Paying and what you get

The team captain buys every ticket for the team, two for Doubles and four for Team Relay, and enters only their own details; the other members receive a link after purchase. That makes a Doubles pair S$278 and a relay team S$476 at regular prices. All prices exclude the ticket portalâ??s transaction fees and tax.

Registration runs on Race Roster, which has a name-change option. The race pack has a unisex T-shirt, tote bag, sweat towel, tattoo sticker, finisher medal and a free spectator ticket. Spectators go free but must pre-register, and spectator registration opens closer to the date.

Rules from the organiserâ??s general FAQ

REDLINEâ??s global FAQ is written for the series rather than for Singapore, and still refers to the 2026 Kuala Lumpur edition, so treat it as a guide and wait for the Singapore race rules. It says:

- The minimum age is 16 for all categories, and 18 for Singles Level 3.
- Collect your race pack at least 60 minutes before your wave starts.
- Be at the timing-chip counter 15 minutes before your wave.
- Missing your wave means disqualification, with no refund.
- There are three hydration stations on the course.

default watermark

Date Created
29/11/2026
Author
jadeyeo