

About Little Big Red Dot

Description

Little Big Red Dot is a Singapore lifestyle publication built to help readers understand what is changing, opening, happening and worth their time. We cover Singapore news, food, events, money, work, business, property, home, family, technology, sport and regional travel.

What We Aim To Provide

Our most useful stories answer practical questions: What happened? Who is affected? What does it cost? Where is it? When does it begin or end? What should a reader verify before acting? We favour clear Singapore relevance, primary sources and decision-ready details over volume for its own sake.

Little Big Red Dot is published by Little Big Red Dot Pte Ltd. Every article is assigned to a named member of the editorial team who is accountable for its accuracy, sourcing and corrections.

How We Work

Editorial and production tools, including AI-assisted tools, may support research planning, drafting, transcription, image preparation, metadata and quality checks. Their use does not reduce our standards. Articles must pass checks for sourcing, duplication, dates, useful original analysis and Singapore reader value before publication. Higher-risk money, health, legal, employment and property topics require primary-source confirmation and additional review.
