Anime Festival Asia Singapore 2026 runs from 27 to 29 November at Suntec Singapore Convention and Exhibition Centre, Hall 401-406. The exhibition hall opens daily from 10am to 8pm, with a day stage in the afternoon and a ticketed concert each night. General-sale prices start at S$25 for a one-day exhibition pass, and the three evening concerts start at S$98.

This yearâ??s edition also marks 60 years of Singapore-Japan diplomatic relations. Here is how the tickets break down, who is performing and what to know before you head down.

Anime Festival Asia Singapore 2026 ticket prices

There are three ticket types, and every price below excludes booking fees. All sales are non-exchangeable and non-refundable, so check the date on your ticket before paying. Tickets are sold on Ticketmaster and Trip.com, and prices step up once the show-day phase begins on 27 November.

- Exhibition only (Fri to Sun): S$25 for one day, S$69 for the three-day pass, or S$95 for a one-day group bundle of four. On show days these become S$28, S$79 and S$106.
- Exhibition plus Day Stage (Sat and Sun only): S$35 for one day or S$66 for the two-day package. Show-day prices are S$38 and S$72.
- Concert (includes the exhibition and Day Stage): CAT 1 seated is S$168 on Saturday or Sunday and S$198 on Friday. CAT 2 is S$138 and CAT 3 seated or standing is S$98.

The CAT 1 three-day package is S$498 at general-sale prices. The earlier super earlybird and earlybird phases have sold out. Saturday and Sunday CAT 1 holders also get a ballot chance for autographed posters, though the organiser says artiste appearances are not guaranteed.

The three concert nights

Doors open at 6pm and each show starts at 7pm. Friday is a first for Singapore fans, and the most intimate of the three nights.

Friday 27 November: Yuki Kajiura LIVE vol.#22

The composer behind countless anime soundtracks performs in Singapore for the first time, on piano and chorus. She is joined by five vocalists, KAORI, Yuriko Kaida, Joelle, Lino Leia and Emiko, plus a full live band. It is billed as a special setlist, titled precious pieces.

Saturday 28 November: AFASG26 Music Fest

This one is a JPop showcase powered by Crunchyroll, with SACRA-chan as the opening act. The billed names are Aooo, KAF and Isekaijoucho in the Kamitsubaki Studio segment, Kyary Pamyu Pamyu, Mayâ??n and Liella!, with Liyuu, Naomi Payton and Yuina performing as their characters. Kyary alone makes the CAT 3 price look like a lobang.

Sunday 29 November: HoneyWorks and Vocaloid Night

HoneyWorks Vocal All Stars bring CHiCO, HaKoniwalily, TAKANE NO NADESHIKO and Karen na Ivory. The night then moves into AFA Vocaloid Night featuring Hatsune Miku, with Hachioji-P, jon-YAKITORY, kz (livetune), picco and TeddyLoid. Expect lightsticks.

Which ticket should you buy?

If you only want the shopping and cosplay, the S$25 one-day exhibition pass is the lowest-risk option. Add the Day Stage if you care about guest talks and screenings. The concert tickets already include the exhibition and the Day Stage, so a S$98 CAT 3 ticket on a Saturday or Sunday already covers all three, and you need nothing else.

Going all three days? The S$69 exhibition package averages about S$23 a day, while the three-day CAT 1 package at S$498 is for fans who want assigned seats and the best view for every night.

What is inside the exhibition hall

The floor plan shows Crunchyroll, MANGA Plus by Shueisha, KADOKAWA Southeast Asia, Toei Animation and Bandai Namco among the exhibitors. There are also a Creators Hub, a Cosplay Hub, a Food Street, the niconico LIVE Stage and the AFA Next Stage for rising talent. An AFA Stamp Rally runs across selected booths.

The Day Stage on Saturday and Sunday opens its doors at 1.30pm for a 2pm start, with guest talks, premiere screenings and exclusive content from Japan. Meet-and-greet sessions are sold separately and need an AFASG26 ticket.

Before you go

- Suntec is a short walk from Promenade MRT. Hall 404 is the entry on the floor plan, and Hall 406 serves as entry and exit.
- Bag checks happen at the entrance. Anything bigger than a shoe bag (35cm x 20cm x 20cm) is opened and checked, so use the express lane if you travel light.
- No outside food or drinks, but plain water in a tumbler is allowed.
- Wear your wristband tightly before entering, or you will be refused entry. You can leave and re-enter, but a removed band cannot be reused.
- The organiser says the floor plan can change without notice, so check the official event page nearer the day.

If you are planning the rest of your December, our guide to Crazy Christmas Jam at Esplanade and the Stray Kids Singapore Indoor Stadium tickets cover two more shows worth budgeting for.
