This is a deadline reminder on the month-long fare sale itself. The separate Cathay-member codes CX80SG and CX80SGLH closed on 15 September, so what is left is the published all-in fare table on cathaypacific.com, not the DBS Wednesday flash.

Sample returns still on the board

From Cathayâ??s Singapore AnniFAREsary table, Economy all-in starting fares include Hong Kong S$354, Beijing / Qingdao / Zhengzhou / Xiâ??an / Chongqing / Chengdu S$424, Shanghai group cities S$485, Tokyo S$727, Osaka / Fukuoka / Nagoya S$764, Los Angeles / San Francisco / Seattle S$1,209, and the Paris / Amsterdam / Rome Europe group S$1,221.

Premium Economy and Business starting fares are published on the same table for Hong Kong, selected Chinese Mainland cities, North America and Europe. Final totals lock at ticketing and can move with tax and class availability.

How to book before 30 September

Book on cathaypacific.com for Singapore. Compare a few outbound dates inside the travel window; the cheapest booking classes are not on every flight. Child fares with a seat are listed at 75% of the adult fare; infants without a seat at 10%.

Do not mix this board with the weekly DBS/POSB Wednesday flash code CXDBSDEAL. That is a separate Wednesday card offer. The AnniFAREsary sale is the September fare table with the 30 September booking cut-off.

What changed after 15 September

Member codes CX80SG (S$80 off short-haul Asia) and CX80SGLH (S$138 off long-haul) were capped and sold only until 15 September for travel between 15 September and 10 December 2026. If those quotas are gone, you still book the sale fare without the extra code discount.

AnniFAREsary Economy returns from Singapore remain bookable to 30 September 2026, from S$354 to Hong Kong.
