

Changi Airport Peanuts Event: Snoopy Sports Park, Meet-And-Greets And Premiums

Description

Changi Airport has turned its school-holiday campaign into a Peanuts sports day, with Snoopy and siblings appearing across photo spots, activities, meet-and-greets, retail pop-ups and premium redemptions.

For families, the appeal is simple: this is an indoor airport outing that can be paired with meals, Jewel, airport-viewing time or a pre-flight errand. The main planning point is to decide whether you are going mainly for photos, paid play activities, character appearances or merchandise.

What Families Can Do

The campaign page groups the experience into several parts: Peanuts photo spots, Peanuts Summer Sports Park, meet-and-greet sessions, Peanuts premiums and retail pop-ups. That gives families a choice between a lighter free-photo stop and a fuller planned outing.

The sports theme is useful for children who prefer active stations over a purely decorative display. Parents should still check times before leaving home, because character appearances and redemption mechanics can depend on session windows, spend levels and stock availability.

Peanuts photo spots are part of the airport-wide campaign.

Planning Notes

- Venue: Changi Airport terminals and participating airport areas listed on the event page.
- Best for: families with preschool and primary-school children, Peanuts fans and airport visitors looking for a school-holiday detour.
- Check the Changi Airport Peanuts campaign page before heading down for the latest meet-and-greet and redemption details.

Families can look out for Peanuts meet-and-greet sessions.

How To Make It Easier With Kids

Pick one terminal area as your starting point and avoid trying to complete every activity in one rush. If you are visiting with younger children, photo spots and the retail pop-up are easier to manage than a packed activity queue.

If you are hoping to redeem premiums, settle the spending plan first. Airport campaigns usually draw weekend crowds, and a child-friendly outing can turn frustrating if the redemption counter is the only reason for the trip.

The Summer Sports Park layout helps families plan the visit before arriving.
