Cold Storageâ??s Fresh Selections and Grocery Selections boards run from Thursday 5 to Wednesday 11 November 2026, covering fruit, vegetables, snacks, instant coffee, chocolate, ice cream and New Zealand wine. The prices below are the ones on Cold Storageâ??s own product price boxes, read on the morning of 6 November.

Fruit and vegetables

- Imperial Mandarin Australia, 900g punnet: S$5.95, usually S$9.90.
- Ozblu Blueberry, 125g: any three for S$9.95, usually S$4.25 a punnet.
- Rockit Apples New Zealand, five per tube: S$9.95, usually S$12.80.
- Soluna Apple Australia, extra large: buy three for S$5.95, usually S$3.00 each.
- Super Jumbo Avocado Australia: buy two for S$10.45, usually S$6.45 each.
- Zespri Green Kiwi New Zealand, five per punnet: buy two for S$10.50, usually S$6.95 a punnet.
- Japanese Cucumber Malaysia, 400g: buy two for S$3.95, usually S$2.60 a pack.
- Sweet Potato Japan, 500g: buy two for S$9.95, usually S$5.95 a bag.

The mandarin cut sits well clear of its S$9.90 shelf price. The blueberry multi-buy only pays if you want three punnets; a single punnet stays at S$4.25.

Ice cream and wine

- HÃ¤agen-Dazs ice cream pints, assorted 420ml to 473ml: any two for S$19.80, usually S$14.75 a pint.
- Matua New Zealand wine, assorted 750ml: any two for S$40.00, usually S$40.00 a bottle.

The HÃ¤agen-Dazs multi-buy pays if you were buying two pints anyway. A single pint stays at S$14.75. Matuaâ??s offer only works in pairs: one bottle is still S$40.00, and two bottles cost S$40.00 together.

Against this weekâ??s other supermarket flyers

These Cold Storage boards are separate from FairPriceâ??s Price Drop Buy Now week, which also ends on 11 November, and from FairPriceâ??s 11.11 PreSale, which sits on its own deadlines.

Shoppers chasing both chains need the product price box on each line, not the flyer headline alone.
