The Courts Pre-11.11 sale gives S$11 off every S$99 spent online, plus free delivery on eligible orders, until 8 November 2026. Courts limits it to the first 500 redemptions, so this is a get-in-early deal and not something to save for 11 November.

It started on 2 November, so some of those 500 redemptions are likely gone already. Here is what counts, what does not, and where the numbers actually work. I went through the exclusions so you do not find out at checkout.

Courts Pre-11.11 sale terms at a glance

From the T&Cs on Courtsâ?? online sales page:

- Valid 2 November to 8 November 2026, online at courts.com.sg only.
- S$11 off every S$99 spent, with free delivery on eligible orders.
- First 500 redemptions only.
- Cannot be combined with other discount vouchers.
- Orders placed with a promo code or for advertised limited sets cannot be cancelled or amended once you get the order acknowledgement email.

Courts says â??every S$99â?•, so the discount should go up with your cart. Courts does not state a cap. Assuming everything in the cart is eligible:

- S$99 to S$197: S$11 off
- S$297 to S$395: S$33 off
- S$495 to S$593: S$55 off
- S$990 to S$1,088: S$110 off

That works out to roughly 11% off eligible items, which is a bit more than the 9% GST already included in the price. If you are just under the next S$99 step, a small add-on can earn more than it costs.

The exclusions that matter

This is where it gets tricky. These categories and deal types do not count:

- Aircons, air purifiers, TVs and printers
- Action cameras and drones
- Limited sets, More Discount items and Online Exclusive Deals

These brands are also out: Apple, Dyson, Fotile, Fujioh, Garmin, Microsoft, Nintendo, Osim, Sony and Tableholic. So no stacking on a new iPhone, a Switch or a Dyson.

The biggest headline prices on the page are also excluded. Courts has a row of items at S$1,111, such as the Roborock Saros 20 Sonic robot vacuum (down from S$2,799.90) and the Electrolux 497-litre four-door fridge EQE4900B-B (down from S$2,099). The Roborock is tagged Online Exclusive Deal and the fridge shows â??sets leftâ?•, which suggests a limited set, so do not expect the S$11 voucher on top of them.

Where the Courts Pre-11.11 voucher works best

The voucher is most useful on regular-priced or lightly discounted items from brands not on the exclusion list. A few listings on the sale page, with prices as of 5 November 2026:

- Stylemaster Belvia queen mattress: S$799, down from S$1,339
- Tefal Pop fuzzy logic rice cooker (0.7 litres) RK535A: S$89, down from S$149
- Carmen two-seater full leather sofa in wheat: S$999, down from S$1,899, but it shows â??3 sets leftâ?•, so it may count as a limited set
- Panasonic 20-litre solo microwave NN-ST21QWYPQ: S$89, down from S$149, also showing â??sets leftâ?•
- Philips Series 5000 Steamfryer (7.2 litres): S$398, down from S$459, tagged More Discount, so excluded
- WD 1TB My Passport portable drive: S$149, down from S$167

If the mattress qualifies, S$799 contains eight S$99 blocks, which means S$88 off and a final price of S$711, with delivery included. That beats most mattress roadshow deals I have seen this year. Furniture and bedding are probably the sweet spot here, since so many electronics brands are excluded.

One more thing. Ninjaâ??s Foodi multicooker OP350 at S$199 (down from S$558) looks great, but it is tagged Online Exclusive Deal, so the voucher will not apply.

How to check before you pay

1. Add your items to the cart at courts.com.sg.
2. Look for the S$11 deduction at checkout. If it is missing, the item is probably excluded or the 500 redemptions have run out.
3. Make sure the order qualifies for free delivery before you confirm.
4. Read the order summary carefully. Promo-code orders cannot be changed afterwards.

Compare before you commit

Best Denki is running a similar S$11 per S$100 deal online, so compare the same model at both stores. Our roundup of Courts and Harvey Norman deals from 29 October and the OG and Metro home sales are also useful for checking prices on bedding and appliances.

Full terms are on Courtsâ?? Pre-11.11 page. Courtsâ?? main 11.11 sale may bring different mechanics once this one ends on 8 November.
