

Creators Super Fest 2026: Suntec Guide For Creators And Cosplayers

Description

Creators Super Fest 2026 runs on 11 and 12 July at Suntec Singapore Convention & Exhibition Centre, Hall 403-405. The official site frames the festival around Create, Share and Play, with SOZO behind the event.

This is useful for Singapore's creator and cosplay community because the event is not only an exhibition floor. It includes creator booths, cosplay activity, stage programming, Creators Lab and exhibitor participation.

Who Should Track It

Creators should watch the application pathways because booth placement and participation windows usually close before casual visitors start planning. Cosplayers should track the competition and singles format if they want to participate rather than simply attend.

Visitors can treat the weekend as a compact ACG-adjacent marketplace and community festival. It should be easier to browse than a mega convention, but still large enough to support creators from multiple scenes.

Planning Notes

If you are a creator, prepare portfolio visuals, pricing and stock plans before applying. If you are attending as a buyer, bring a budget for independent art, crafts and community merchandise rather than expecting only mainstream retail.

Cosplayers should also plan for Suntec's practical constraints: changing, queues, bag weight, photo meet-ups and moving between halls can take more time than expected. If you are arranging shoots, choose meeting points outside the busiest entrance lanes so you do not block traffic.

For creators selling at the event, the weekend is not only about booth display. Prepare payment options, small change, packing material, table signage and a simple inventory count so you can track what sells across both days. A compact event can still become tiring if the booth is understaffed. Keep restock boxes labelled clearly.
