

Distillius x Twofold Pizza and Spritz: July 2026 Guide

Description

Distillius and Twofold are serving a July-only pairing of an Arveau Frozen Spritz and Pancetta Pineapple pizza at Twofold in Serene Centre through 31 July 2026. The collaboration is a limited menu pairing, not a set-price deal in the material reviewed by Little Big Red Dot. Confirm both availability and price before making a dedicated trip.

Last checked: 15 July 2026. Event and promotion details can change; use the linked organiser page before travelling or paying.

What is being offered?

Food	Twofold Pancetta Pineapple pizza
Drink	Arveau Frozen Spritz made with Distillius’s Singapore-distilled aperitif
Availability	Through 31 July 2026, while the collaboration remains available
Where	Twofold, 10 Jalan Serene, #01-05 Serene Centre, Singapore 258748
Published hours	Thursday–Sunday, noon–8.30pm, or until sold out
Price	Not published in the collaboration material reviewed; ask the venue

What can be independently verified?

Twofold’s official site identifies it as a neighbourhood pizza shop from the Micro Bakery team. Its dough is fermented for 24 hours and pizzas are sold by the slice or as whole pies. The official location page lists Serene Centre, Thursday-to-Sunday opening and a “until sold out” qualification.

Distillius’s official product page describes Arveau as a 20% ABV equatorial aperitif distilled in Singapore, with calamansi, mandarin, torch flower, ginseng, galangal and clove. It recommends serving the aperitif over ice, with soda or in cocktails. Those product facts support the drink description; they do not constitute a Little Big Red Dot tasting.

Why the pairing makes sense on paper

As an editorial inference, citrus and bitterness can provide contrast to fatty pancetta, while pineapple connects with the aperitif's tropical and citrus notes. A frozen format should also change dilution and perceived bitterness as it melts. That is an ingredient-based explanation, not a claim that our writer tasted or preferred the combination.

Taste remains subjective, and pineapple on pizza is already a polarising choice. Readers who dislike bitter aperitifs or sweet-savoury pizza should order on preference rather than novelty.

Three missing details to confirm

1. Price: neither the brand product page nor Twofold location page publishes a collaboration set price.
2. Format: ask whether the pizza is available by slice, whole pie or both for the pairing.
3. Daily stock: Twofold says it trades until sold out, so late-evening availability is not guaranteed.

Also confirm whether the Frozen Spritz can be purchased separately and whether a non-alcoholic alternative exists. Arveau is an alcoholic aperitif; anyone avoiding alcohol should not infer otherwise from the word "spritz".

Getting there and deciding whether to travel

Twofold is at 10 Jalan Serene, around a short walk from Botanic Gardens MRT according to the venue's location page. The strongest reason for a dedicated visit is interest in both components of the pairing. If only the pizza or aperitif appeals, call or message first to check whether the item is available independently and whether queues or sell-outs are expected.

This is not a "must-try" recommendation. The previous headline used that phrase without a reported tasting, price or independent comparison. The revised guide gives the verifiable facts, labels interpretation and leaves the purchase decision with the reader.

How to order with fewer surprises

- Check the collaboration is still running on the intended day.
- Ask for the price and serving size before travelling.
- Confirm slice versus whole-pie availability and estimated wait.
- If sharing, ask how many servings the pizza is designed for.
- For the drink, ask about alcohol strength per serve and non-alcoholic choices.

For a group-priced buffet, see the J65 Dine 3 Pay 2 guide. For a casual-dining rewards comparison, use the Swensen's offers guide.

Sources and disclosure

The collaboration details and image were supplied to Little Big Red Dot by the participating brands. Venue, dough and opening information were independently checked against Twofold's official page; the product ingredients, strength and origin were checked against Distillius's official Arveau page. Little Big Red Dot did not receive a meal, did not taste the pairing for this update and has no commercial relationship disclosed for this article.

Date Created

10/07/2026

Author

meichua

default watermark