

Stray Kids Singapore Indoor Stadium tickets: S$168 to S$378 for two RUN IT shows in March 2027

Description

default watermark

Stray Kids Singapore Indoor Stadium tickets run from S$168 to S$378 before booking fees, for two shows on 6 and 7 March 2027. Both nights start at 6pm, with doors opening at 4pm. The groupâ??s RUN IT world tour is billed as a stadium tour, but the Singapore stops are at the Singapore Indoor Stadium in Kallang.

The sales dates have already passed, so the real question now is what is still available. We could not confirm live availability, so check Ticketmaster Singapore before you plan anything.

Stray Kids Singapore Indoor Stadium tickets and prices

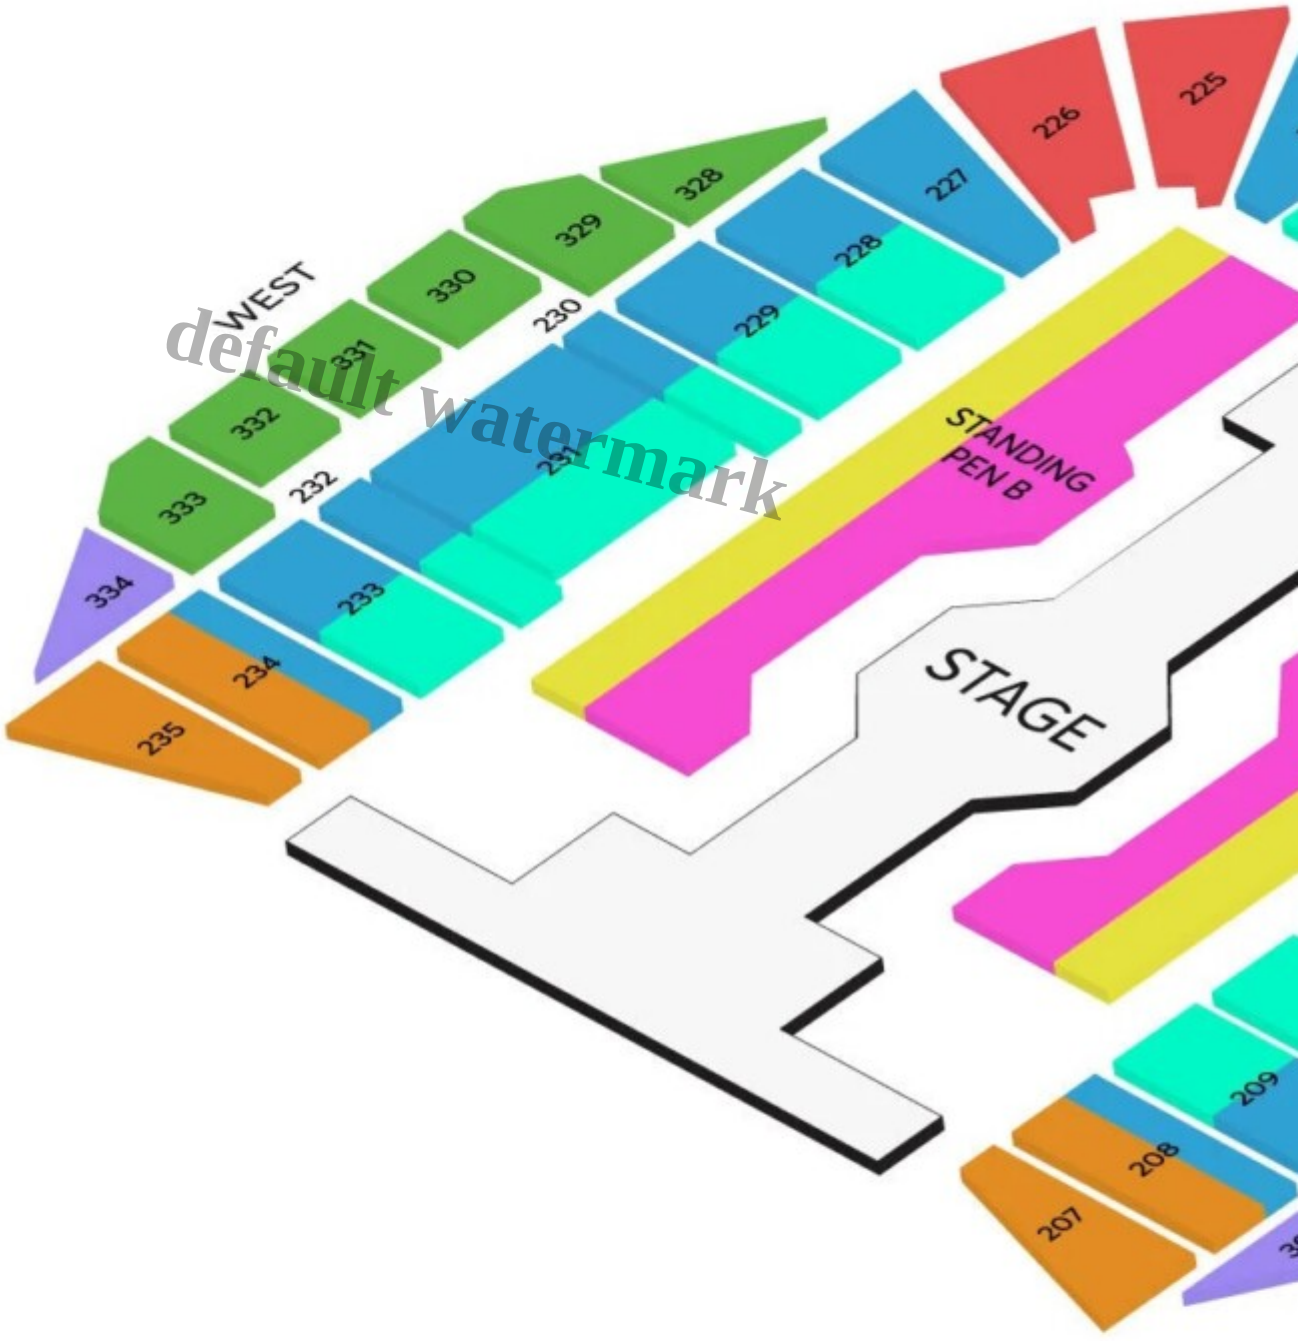

These are the official category prices listed by The Kallang, excluding booking fees:

- VIP Standing: S$368
- VIP Seated: S$378
- CAT 1 Standing: S$298
- CAT 2: S$308
- CAT 3: S$258
- CAT 4: S$188
- CAT 5 (restricted view): S$258
- CAT 6 (restricted view): S$168

Booking fees are tiered by ticket price. Expect S$10 per ticket for tickets priced S$301 and above, S$8 for S$101 to S$300, and S$6 for tickets up to S$100. For a pair of CAT 4 tickets, that works out to S$376 plus S$16 in fees.

Stray Kids World Tour <RUN IT SINGAPORE>

SINGAPORE INDOOR STADIUM

default watermark

VIP STANDING*	$368
VIP SEATED	$378
CAT 1 STANDING*	$298
CAT 2	$308
CAT 3	$258
CAT 4	$188
CAT 5 (Restricted View)	$258

*VIP STANDING ticket holders get
No designated area within the st
CAT 1 STANDING ticket holders.

Source: The Kallang

Show times and how the sales worked

Both shows are on weekend evenings: Saturday 6 March and Sunday 7 March 2027. The concert starts at 6pm, and doors open at 4pm, so fans who want merchandise or a spot in the standing zones will probably queue early.

Sales ran in three steps last year. The STAY 6th Generation fan club presale was on 31 August 2026, the Live Nation presale followed on 1 September, and general sales opened on 2 September at 10am. Tickets were sold online through Ticketmaster Singapore and by hotline on +65 6018 7645.

If you missed out, stick to official channels. Resale listings may charge far above face value, and scams around K-pop concerts are common in Singapore.

default watermark

Source: The Kallang

Picking a seat at the Indoor Stadium

The Indoor Stadium holds a lot fewer people than the National Stadium, so even the cheaper categories are closer to the stage than a stadium show. The restricted view categories at S$168 and S$258 are the budget routes in, but you may lose sight of part of the stage or screens. If you can stretch, CAT 4 at S$188 is the cheapest category without a view warning.

The organiser has published an official seat map, which is worth studying before you commit to a category. Standing tickets are for people who want the energy of the floor, while seated tickets suit anyone who would rather save their knees.

What to plan before the shows

Two nights means two chances, but it also means two big crowds in Kallang. A few things are worth sorting out early:

- Check the name on your ticket matches your ID, as K-pop shows often tighten entry rules
- Book your ride home in advance, or plan to wait out the first rush after the encore
- Keep the booking fee in your budget, since it is added on top of the listed price
- Screenshot your e-ticket in case the mobile signal around the stadium is patchy

default watermark

Hotels near Kallang and Geylang also tend to fill up when the groupâ??s fans fly in from the region, so overseas friends should not leave it too late.

Getting to Kallang

The Indoor Stadium is at 2 Stadium Walk, and the nearest MRT is Stadium on the Circle Line. Concert nights get crowded, so leave a buffer on the way home.

Looking for more events before March? Highlight (Beast) headline the Kallang Countdown 2027 New Yearâ??s Eve concert. Closer to the date, you can see how a recent Indoor Stadium show was priced in our piece on Ilaiyaraajaâ??s concert. And if anime is more your thing, the Anime Festival Asia lineup is on 27 to 29 November.

Date Created
17/11/2026
Author
priya