This June school holidays, embark on a fun-filled adventure through Singaporeâ??s history with Get Curious! Building Our Singapore, at the National Museum of Singapore!

Complementing the SG60 commemorative exhibition Once Upon a Tide, this edition of Childrenâ??s Season explores the impact of early and present-day migrants in shaping our nation, and how our small island state continues to make waves globally.

Designed for children ages 3 and above, young ones and their families can look forward to an exciting line-up of creative hands-on activities and interactive installations, including a vibrant mama shop-inspired showcase and designing thank-you cards to express gratitude to our migrant worker community. From storytelling, film screenings, character meet-and-greet to artefact hunting, thereâ??s something for every young explorer. Perfect for sparking curiosity, reflection, and meaningful conversations across generations!
