$6 Off With Promo Code FUELUP

Whether youâ??re watching from the sofa, hosting a viewing party or grabbing a meal between race-related plans, foodpanda users can enjoy S$6 off* their order with the promo code FUELUP on the app. The deal covers a solid line-up of participating restaurants across mains, drinks and desserts, including Burger King, Dominoâ??s, MOS Burger, Pizza Hut, Popeyes, Takagi Ramen, Genki Sushi and Xiang Xiang Hunan Cuisine for food, and An AÃaÃ Affair, I Love Taimei, KOI ThÃ© and Luckin Coffee for something sweet or caffeinated on the side.

Group Order Makes Watch Parties Easier

Race weekend is prime time for get-togethers, and foodpandaâ??s Group Order feature is designed with exactly that in mind. Friends or family members can each add their own meals and drinks to a single shared basket from the same restaurant, which means everyone gets what they want with just one delivery and one set of shared fees, instead of a string of separate orders and delivery charges.

Setting up a Group Order is straightforward: find your favourite restaurant on the foodpanda app, tap Group order on the restaurant page, then hit Create group order in the pop-up. From there, copy the invite link and share it with your group, and once everyone's individual orders are in, simply place the order together. It's a convenient option for race-day viewing parties, office gatherings or late-night meals with friends and family.

More Ways to Save

Pandapro subscribers can also enjoy unlimited free delivery[^] for just S$5.99 a month, on top of exclusive food, pick-up and grocery deals, making it worth a look for anyone planning to order in more than once this race season.

With the Singapore Grand Prix drawing crowds both to the circuit and to living rooms across the island, foodpanda's F1-season promotions are a handy way to keep the celebrations going without the hassle of coordinating a big group order.
