foodpanda is selling the PlayStation 5 standard edition of Grand Theft Auto VI on pandamart, and the pandamart GTA VI listing opened from 7pm SGT on 18 November, a day before the gameâ??s global launch. The price is S$99 against a usual retail price of S$109, but only 90 copies are available across pandamart stores, so some may already have gone.

How the pandamart GTA VI offer works

- Game: Grand Theft Auto VI Standard Edition for PS5
- Price: S$99 (usual retail price S$109), while stocks last
- Stock: 90 copies across pandamart stores
- Delivery: ordered on demand through the foodpanda app, with delivery in about an hour
- Extra savings: check the app for pandamart vouchers that may take a little more off eligible orders

It is a savvy bit of timing from foodpanda. Instead of queueing at a shop on launch night, you can order the disc to your door, and it is the kind of impulse delivery that pandamartâ??s quick-commerce service is built for.

Game night deals until 29 November foodpanda is pairing the game with offers to keep a gaming session going. Until 29 November, the code LOBANG takes S$6 off selected orders from restaurants, pandamart and shops, whether delivered or picked up. Participating restaurants include 4Fingers Crispy Chicken, Luckinâ?? Coffee, Texas Chicken and The Soup Spoon. There is also up to 40% off pandamart deals for snacks and game-night supplies.

New customers can use NEWPANDA on a first foodpanda order or NEWGROCER on a first pandamart grocery order. pandapro subscribers, who pay S$5.99 a month, get unlimited free delivery, subject to minimum spend. Minimum spend and eligibility vary by merchant, and other terms and conditions apply, so check the foodpanda app before you order.

foodpanda notes that the campaign is not associated with or sponsored by Rockstar Games, Take-Two Interactive Software, Sony Interactive Entertainment or GTA VI.
