

Hamburg Steak Keisuke (Tanjong Pagar) has one of the best salad bars

Description

Disclaimer, I am a vegetarian. But some of my family members wanted to have dinner here as the salad bar is one of the best in Singapore.

Salad bar? I can take a good salad bar. Anyway I ordered a set meal but I did not eat the meat.

This is the cost of a meal which comes with a salad bar.

default watermark

The mains were decent. Feedback from those who had the mains.

default watermark

The Triple Cheese Hamburg Steak set looks a lot different from what was displayed on the poster thoughâ?!

default watermark

When we arrived, the dinner crowd had not filled the place. Over time this place got crowded. We visited on a Sunday evening.

default watermark

Now this is the salad bar. There is a huge array of sauces. I think one can get full just on the salad bar alone.

default watermark

I loaded up on a lot of carbohydrates for the day. The soba salad was excellent.

default watermark

Here is how wide the salad selection was.

default watermark

Oh and you can have unlimited eggs. Sunny side up, scrambled, soft boiled or tamago.

default watermark

This really is the one of the best salad bars in Singapore. My only gripe is that the place is not the cleanest. The tables were oily when we arrived. The salad bar area could do with a little cleaning up too. Oh and they do not take reservations. Apparently. So you have to queue. Location? 72 Peck Seah St, Singapore 079329.

Date Created

05/10/2025

Author

daryllum

default watermark