

Hikiniku To Come VivoCity: Singapore Guide To The Hamburg Steak Set

Description

Hikiniku To Come now has a Singapore store page for VivoCity, putting the Japanese hamburg steak specialist at 1 HarbourFront Walk #01-102 near CHAGEE. For diners, the appeal is the narrow menu: the official FAQ says the restaurant offers only one menu, the Hikiniku to Come Set Meal.

The set includes three freshly grilled hamburgers of 90g each, freshly cooked rice with unlimited refills, miso soup, one raw egg, grated daikon with ponzu and condiments on the table. That means the visit is less about scanning a large menu and more about timing, queue management and whether the set format suits your group.

What To Expect

The brand uses a registration system so it can serve the patties freshly prepared. The FAQ says one representative can register for the group, customers may choose from available slots, and each registration can cover up to four people. Changes in group size are not accepted after registration.

This makes the outlet better for smaller groups than large casual meet-ups. If you are going with children, older family members or friends with a tight schedule, settle the registration and timing first before planning other VivoCity errands.

- Address listed: 1 HarbourFront Walk, #01-102.
- Landmark note: near CHAGEE.
- Menu: one Hikiniku to Come Set Meal.
- Set components: three 90g hamburgers, rice refills, miso soup, raw egg, grated daikon with ponzu and condiments.
- Registration: up to four people per registration.

Planning Notes

VivoCity makes the restaurant easy to pair with HarbourFront, Sentosa or a movie plan, but peak mall hours can work against a quick meal. If this is your first visit, choose an off-peak time so the set can be enjoyed properly rather than rushed between errands.
