If you have not already heard, Isetan at NEX Serangoon is closing its doors for good this month â?? and the department store is going out with a bang. Their â??Everything Must Goâ?• clearance sale is now on, with discounts of up to 70% off across a wide range of household essentials, kitchenware, and home appliances. The sale runs until 26 April 2026, so there is still time to grab some bargains.

After 15 years at NEX, Isetan is pulling out of the Serangoon mall, leaving only the flagship Isetan Scotts outlet along Orchard Road as the last Isetan standing in Singapore. If you have any nostalgia for the brand â?? or simply love a good closing-down deal â?? this is one sale worth making a trip for.

What Is on Sale

The clearance is focused on the Household Department at Level 3 of NEX, with steep markdowns across cookware, kitchen appliances, home electronics, and everyday household items. Shoppers can expect deals on well-known brands such as Philips, Panasonic, Tefal, Tiger, and Happycall.

One of the standout sections is the â??Any 2 for $60â?• mix-and-match deal, where you can pair up household essentials like kettles, irons, pots, and pans from brands like Philips, Tefal, Midea, and Tiger. Some of these items normally retail for more than $60 each on their own, so this is genuinely excellent value â?? though there is a cap of 60 pieces per item.

What to Look Out For

With discounts this steep, the best items tend to go quickly. Here are a few tips to make the most of the sale:

Head to the â??Any 2 for $60â?• section first. This is where the real value lies â?? mixing and matching premium-brand kitchen items at a fraction of their usual price. A Philips kettle and a Tefal pan for $60 total? That is hard to beat.

Check the appliance section for deeper markdowns. Items from Panasonic, Philips, and Tiger are seeing significant price cuts, especially on smaller appliances like rice cookers, toasters, and blenders.

Go on a weekday if you can. The sale has been drawing crowds, particularly on weekends. Weekday mornings tend to be quieter and offer a better browsing experience.

The End of an Era at NEX

Isetan first opened at NEX when the mall launched back in 2011, making it one of the anchor tenants for 15 years. The closure reflects broader shifts in Singaporeâ??s retail landscape, with Japanese department stores gradually scaling back their presence. Once Isetan NEX shuts, only the Isetan Scotts outlet on Orchard Road will remain â?? making it the last Isetan in Singapore.

If you are in the market for affordable household goods or simply want to say a final goodbye to Isetan NEX, the sale is well worth a visit before 26 April.
