

Isetan NEX Everything Must Go Sale: Up to 70% Off Kitchenware, Appliances and More Before Closing on 26 April

Description

After 15 years at NEX Serangoon, Isetan is closing its doors for good and they're going out with a bang. The iconic Japanese department store is running an Everything Must Go clearance sale at its Household Department on Level 3, with discounts of up to 70% off on kitchenware, home appliances, and household essentials. The sale runs until 26 April 2026, so you've got just over a week to grab what you need before it's all gone.

What's on Sale?

Isetan's Household Department is clearing out its entire inventory, and the selection is impressive. Here's what you can expect to find:

Kitchenware and cookware: Pots, pans, woks, frying pans, steamers, and baking trays from well-known brands like Tefal, Philips, Tiger, and Midea. Prices have been slashed by up to 70%, making this one of the best opportunities to refresh your kitchen arsenal without breaking the bank.

Small home appliances: Electric kettles, rice cookers, toasters, irons, and blenders are all up for grabs at heavily discounted prices. Whether you've been putting off replacing that ageing kettle or need a new iron, now's the time.

Home essentials: Bedding, towels, storage solutions, and cleaning products are also included in the clearance. These are practical items that every household needs, and buying them at 50-70% off is a no-brainer.

The 2-for-$60 Mix-and-Match Section

One of the standout features of the sale is the Any 2 for $60 section. Here, you can mix and match household essentials like kettles, irons, pots, and pans from brands including Philips, Tefal, Midea, and Tiger. At $30 per item for branded goods, this is exceptional value especially considering some of these items retail for $60 to $100+ each at regular prices.

This section is particularly popular and tends to get picked over quickly, so our advice is to go early in the day if you have specific items in mind.

Up to 80% Off on Select Items

While the banner discount is up to 70% off, some shoppers have reported finding selected items marked down by as much as 80%. These deep-discount items are typically one-off stock that Isetan needs to clear before the store closes permanently. If you're flexible about brands and models, you could walk away with some truly remarkable bargains.

Why Is Isetan NEX Closing?

Isetan announced in December 2025 that it would be closing its NEX outlet, leaving only its flagship Orchard Road store remaining in Singapore. The closure is part of a broader trend of Japanese department stores scaling back their overseas presence in the face of changing retail dynamics and shifting consumer behaviour.

For Serangoon residents, the closure marks the end of an era. Isetan has been a fixture at NEX since the mall opened, and generations of families have shopped there for everything from groceries to household goods. Many residents have expressed sadness at the closure, even as they take advantage of the final sale.

Tips for Getting the Best Deals

Go on a weekday. Weekends are predictably packed. If you can visit on a weekday morning, you'll have a much more pleasant shopping experience and a better selection of items.

Check for further markdowns. As the 26 April deadline approaches, Isetan may introduce additional markdowns to clear remaining stock. If you're not in a rush, a visit in the final few days could yield even deeper discounts.

Bring your own bags. With a closing sale of this scale, don't count on Isetan having plenty of shopping bags available. Bring your own large tote or reusable bags.

Inspect before you buy. As with any clearance sale, some items may be display units or have minor cosmetic imperfections. Check everything before you commit, especially for electrical items.
