What Shapes Ahoy covers

Science Centre's programmes ticket page describes a shapes treasure hunt, a suncatcher craft and a tropical fruit bowl activity, aimed at early maths and problem-solving for toddlers. Shapes Ahoy sits under the 2026 Shapes Around Us theme for August and September.

TOTally Science is KidsSTOP's toddler science series for ages 2 to 3. Sessions are planned around developmental milestones, so the centre asks parents to match the child's age before booking.

Tickets and place

Booking runs through Science Centre Singapore programmes tickets. The listing states one ticket is for one parent and one child only, and tickets are non-transferable and non-refundable. Availability can show as sold out on the portal when the session fills.

KidsSTOP is at 21 Jurong Town Hall Road, Singapore 609433, inside the Science Centre campus. The next listed TOTally Science date after Shapes Ahoy is Dino Galore on 17 October 2026.
