

Konbini At SCAPE: Japanese-Themed Pop-Up Weekend Guide

Description

Konbini is one of the more immediate weekend picks because it runs on 6 and 7 June 2026 at *SCAPE Ground Theatre, Level 2. *SCAPE describes it as Singaporeâ??s first Japanese-themed pop-up event for creatives.

The appeal is not only shopping. The official listing names J-fashion, alternative fashion, kawaii accessories, nails, hairstyling and an after-market gig, which makes this a compact weekend stop for youth-culture and Harajuku-inspired browsing.

What To Expect

The event is listed from 11am, so it should work as a daytime Orchard stop before dinner or another weekend activity. Because the market mixes fashion, beauty and live-music energy, visitors should expect a crowd that is more style-led than a conventional mall bazaar.

If you are going for nails or hairstyling, arrive earlier in the day. Those services can take longer than browsing accessories, and slots may become harder to manage once the after-market gig crowd builds.

Who Should Go

Konbini suits visitors who want a pop-up that feels more like a scene than a simple retail fair. It is useful for teens, students, young creatives and anyone looking for independent style ideas around Orchard.
