

Kumar Got Balls At Marina Bay Sands: Comedy Show Guide

Description

Kumar Got Balls runs at Marina Bay Sands's Sands Theatre from 25 June to 12 July 2026. The official listing describes an English-language comedy show of about 110 minutes, including a 20-minute intermission, with ticket prices from S$68 to S$198 before booking fee.

For Singapore audiences, Kumar needs little introduction. The useful reader question is whether this is a casual night out, a birthday plan or a group booking. The Sands Theatre location makes it easy to pair the show with dinner, but it also means price, seat category and transport should be sorted before the popular weekend sessions fill.

Key Details

Marina Bay Sands lists the show rating as to be advised, so families should wait for the final rating if younger viewers are involved. Adults planning a group night should check the seat map carefully because comedy relies on sightlines and timing; sitting together is more valuable than shaving a few dollars off scattered seats.

Premium lounge and front-row package details on the official page include popcorn and a drink, which may matter for fans who want a more occasion-style night rather than a simple theatre ticket.

KUMMA HOT BALLS

The show gives local comedy fans a Sands Theatre option across multiple dates.

How To Plan The Night

Arrive early if you are eating at The Shoppes before the show. Marina Bay Sands can be crowded on weekends, and walking from a restaurant to Sands Theatre takes longer when the mall is full.
