

Miniature Reflections Plays Esplanade Black Room On 14 June

Description

Miniature Reflections is a same-day concert pick for listeners who want a smaller-format music programme rather than a large hall show.

The performance is listed for Sunday, 14 June 2026, at 7.30pm in Esplanade Black Room, with S$35 tickets.

The Basic Details

The concert features The Singaporean Concertino, Jeremy Koh and Gin-Tzu Tsai. Esplanade lists the runtime as one hour with no intermission.

The Black Room setting suits a recital-scale programme because it keeps the focus close. If you prefer performances where the audience can hear detail and texture, this is a better fit than a larger venue.

- Date: 14 June 2026, Sunday.
- Time: 7.30pm.
- Venue: Esplanade Black Room.
- Ticket price: S$35 before ticketing-agent booking fees.

Who Should Consider It

This is a practical option for classical and chamber-music listeners who want a compact Sunday evening plan. The one-hour runtime also makes it easier to fit around dinner or the Monday workday.

Because it is a ticketed room event, book through authorised channels and leave enough time to find the venue inside Esplanade.

Planning Notes

The event starts after the nearby free evening programmes, so Esplanade may be busier than usual around the Concourse and outdoor theatre. Arrive before the ticketed start time rather than treating it as a drop-in.

If you are pairing this with dinner, choose a pre-show meal nearby rather than a tight post-show reservation. A one-hour performance can still run into crowd flow delays around the building.
