

MODU opens at Raffles City on 19 November with a S$40 Curry Laksa Samgyetang sold only there

Description

default watermark

MODU, the samgyetang specialist from Mandarin Gallery and Amoy Street, opens its third Singapore outlet at Raffles City tomorrow, Thursday 19 November, and two of its soups will be sold nowhere else.

The new bowls are a Curry Laksa Samgyetang at S$40 and a Mugwort Samgyetang at S$37. The laksa one is MODUâ??s Singapore debut flavour, with the chicken in a rich coconut broth built on Southeast Asian spices. The same broth also comes as Curry Laksa Kalguksu, with handmade noodles, for S$34.

Curry Laksa Samgyetang, S$40, only at MODU Raffles City. Image: MODU

What is new at Raffles City

The Mugwort Samgyetang uses fresh Korean mugwort, or ssuk, in a light broth with a herbal edge. It is the gentler of the two Raffles City exclusives, and the one to pick if a laksa-flavoured ginseng chicken sounds like one idea too many.

Mugwort Samgyetang, S$37, another Raffles City exclusive. Image: MODU

Raffles City will serve 12 samgyetang. Classic Herbal is the cheapest at S$35. Perilla Seed is S$38, Black Garlic and Wild Mushroom are S$42, Truffle is S$46, and the Black Chicken and Premium Seafood bowl, with abalone and octopus, tops the menu at S$52. Every samgyetang there comes with unlimited herbal soup. If you order the Scorched Rice version at S$40, allow 20 to 30 minutes for it.

default watermark

Classic Herbal Samgyetang, the cheapest bowl on the Raffles City menu at S$35. Image: MODU

Raffles City will serve organic chicken by the half, while Mandarin Gallery and Amoy Street use organic spring chicken. MODU says its chicken comes from halal-certified suppliers and every dish is pork-free and lard-free.

The grilled eel offer

Until 18 December, every two samgyetang ordered at Raffles City come with one Grilled Eel free. The eel is a S$34 sharing plate on the regular menu, served with two house sauces. The campaign is pitched at bringing your parents along, though that part is encouraged rather than required.

default watermark

Order two samgyetang at Raffles City and the Grilled Eel is free until 18 December. Image: MODU

To claim it, show staff MODUâ??s campaign post on its @modu.singapore Instagram account when you order. The offer is dine-in only and valid at Raffles City only.

For two people, the 2-Gather Set at S$98 covers tea, an appetiser, two samgyetang, a sharing plate and dessert. Curry Laksa adds S$2 to the set and Truffle adds S$8.

Getting there

MODU Raffles City is at 252 North Bridge Road, #B1-06/07 Raffles City, Singapore 179103, in the basement of the mall at City Hall. From tomorrow it opens daily from 11am to 10pm. It is walk-in first, and groups can WhatsApp the outlet on 8087 0757. All prices are before the 10 per cent service charge and GST.

Date Created
18/11/2026
Author
meichua

default watermark