

My Favourite Laksa – Consistently Good

Description

As I aged, I grew out of my constant craving for Ba Chor Mee (minced meat noodles) and Char Kway Tiao.

However, I still find myself craving for the occasional bowl of laksa. Whenever I return from an overseas trip, laksa is at the top of my list of local comfort foods.

default watermark

Sungei Road Laksa ????? is the store I visit religiously whenever I need my laksa fix. This place can get crowded during lunch hours so I will be there for breakfast before I head to work.

They are opened daily (close on Wednesday) from 9.30am.

I love that the cockles are fresh and the soup is fragrant. I like it that the coconut taste is not too overpowering.

default watermark

default watermark

A standard bowl of laksa come at SGD$4. You have the option to pay for extra ingredients and soup. I would always ask for extra bean sprouts and fish cakes.

default watermark

The only utensil provided is a spoon. The idea is you eat every mouth with a mixture of the creamy soup, slurp-worthy noodles, crunch bean sprouts and succulent cockles. It's a perfect symphony to the taste buds.

My Verdict:

Food: 4.5/5

Sungei Road Laksa / Blk 27 Jalan Berseh Singapore 20027

For the latest deals and content, join our Telegram channel here today!

Date Created

26/12/2023

Author

kevinyeo