Nathalie Ribette sings Paris Chansons tonight, Wednesday 16 September 2026, in two free sets at Esplanade Concourse under Crossing Borders 2026: 7.15pm and 8.15pm.

Esplanadeâ??s listing frames the programme as a journey through timeless French songs, including classics associated with Ã?dith Piaf and Charles Trenet, celebrating love, nostalgia and joie de vivre. No ticket is required. The same artist also played the series on Monday, 7 September.

What Crossing Borders is this month

Crossing Borders 2026 runs 1 to 30 September across Esplanade with free and ticketed world-music programmes. The series page marks tonightâ??s Ribette sets as free concourse shows. Each set is a walk-up programme rather than a seated Theatre or Concert Hall booking.

Near-term picks on the same calendar include Norwegian Resonances on 8 and 19 September, Reggae Jamboree on 15 and 22 September, Balkan Collectif & Boyana Tesla on 17 September, Sari-Sari Philippine Kulintang Ensemble and RaÃz y CompÃ¡s flamenco on 18 September, and Singapore Taiko Matsuri on 19 September. Check each listing for venue room and whether a ticket applies; concourse sets are not the same as ticketed halls.
