The Nike 11.11 sale Singapore shoppers have been waiting for is already running, and it ends at 23:59 on Wednesday, 11 November 2026. Sale styles are marked down by up to 50%, and code GAMEON knocks an extra 20% off when you buy at least two eligible items. The catch is in the fine print, so here is how to use it properly before the clock runs out.

Everything below was checked against Nikeâ??s own 11.11 terms page on 6 November 2026. Prices move during sales, so treat the examples as a snapshot.

Nike 11.11 sale Singapore: the key terms

- Runs from 00:00 on 2 November to 23:59 on 11 November 2026, Singapore time.
- Sale styles on the seasonal sale page are up to 50% off with no code needed.
- Code GAMEON gives an extra 20% off products on Nikeâ??s Extra 20% Off Min. 2 Items page, when you buy two or more.
- Socks do not count towards the two-item minimum.
- The extra discount is capped at S$700 per order.
- Valid on Nike.com and the Nike App for Singapore residents only, one code per order, not stackable with other offers.

You key the code in under â??Have a promo code?â?• at checkout, before you enter payment details. It does not work on orders you have already placed, so do not cancel and reorder hoping for a refund of the difference.

What the extra 20% actually saves you

On 6 November, the bundles page listed over 2,600 products, and plenty of them were already cut close to half price. A few that caught my eye:

- Nike Total 90 menâ??s shoes at S$82.50, down from S$165
- Nike P-6000 womenâ??s shoes at S$125.30, down from S$179
- Jordan Brooklyn menâ??s T-shirt at S$29.40, down from S$49
- Nike menâ??s Dri-FIT fitness T-shirt at S$24.75, down from S$45

Pair the Total 90 with the Jordan Brooklyn tee and your cart comes to S$111.90. GAMEON takes off another S$22.38, so you pay S$89.52 for a pair of shoes and a top that originally added up to S$214. Add the Dri-FIT tee and the three pieces come to S$109.32 after the code.

The main sale page also showed the Nike Dunk Low at S$89.50 (was S$179) and the Air Force 1 Low Retro at S$159.20 (was S$199). Before you check out, look for the â??Extra 20% off with min. 2â?• label on each product listing, because only items from the bundles page qualify for GAMEON.

How to apply GAMEON without a hiccup

1. Shop from the Extra 20% Off Min. 2 Items page, not just the general sale page.
2. Put at least two eligible items in your bag, and do not count on socks to make up the numbers.
3. At checkout, click â??Have a promo code?â?• and enter GAMEON before you add your card details.
4. Check that the extra 20% shows up in the order summary, then pay.

If the discount does not appear, one of the items is probably not on the bundles list. Swap it for something that carries the label, rather than assuming the code is broken.

App-only price drop on 11 November

Nike has also been running limited price drops in the Nike App on 2, 5 and 11 November. The last one runs from 00:00 to 23:59 on 11 November, on selected products, while stocks last.

These drops are App-only, and you cannot use a promo code on them. If you see something in the drop, check the final price against the website sale price plus GAMEON before you commit. Sometimes the drop wins, sometimes the code does.

Delivery, payment and other small print

- Standard delivery is free for Nike Members on every order. Guests pay S$10 unless the order is S$75 or more.
- Same-day delivery costs S$20 if you order before 2pm on a weekday.
- A separate Grab PayLater offer on the Nike site gives S$12 off with a minimum spend of S$250, until 30 November.
- Returns follow Nikeâ??s normal returns policy, and Nike can change or cancel the promotion without notice.

My kiasu tip: sign up as a Nike Member before you check out. It is free, it unlocks free delivery on small orders, and you will be able to place the order quickly if the sizes you want start disappearing on 11 November.

Who should bother

If you only want one pair of shoes, the up to 50% markdown alone is already decent, and you do not need the code. The real lobang is for anyone buying two things anyway, like a running shoe and a training tee, or matching pairs for the kids.

Looking around before you buy? The Skechers warehouse sale at Ubi runs until 8 November, and the Decathlon 11.11 sale starts on 7 November if you need gear rather than sneakers.
