The published weekday and weekend menus put Korean and Japanese stations side by side rather than as a full a la carte reset. Seafood on ice, live sashimi (salmon, tuna, octopus), kimchi and gimhap, assorted sushi and maki, Korean fried chicken, tempura, and soups including samgyetang and tonjiru are on the rotation lists. Dinner adds teppanyaki on both weekday and weekend sheets; weekend dinner also lists Boston lobster on ice.

Against other hotel buffet launches this month priced in the same band this month, the weekday lunch floor sits near the low end of Orchard Road international rooms, while weekend dinner at S$112++ sits closer to mid-tier seafood spreads such as the Crossroads buffet window. The open questions for planners are child prices, which are not printed on the three feast PDFs, and how quickly the first-50 1-for-1 quota clears on busy nights.

Live and grill stations on the rotation sheets include BBQ items such as marinated tiger prawn, grilled miso salmon and Korean-style meats, alongside local markers the room already carries year-round, including Hainanese chicken rice and a laksa noodle line. The cafe sits on the lobby level of Orchard Hotel on Orchard Road, a short walk from Orchard MRT.
