Park Jihoon is bringing the 2026 Asia Fancon RE:FLECT to Singapore on 18 July 2026, with Singapore EXPO listing the show at Arena @ EXPO.

The event is scheduled from 6pm to 10pm and is framed as a fancon rather than a conventional concert, so attendees should expect performance segments mixed with talk, interaction and fan-focused moments.

Date, Time And Venue

The Singapore stop is listed for 18 July 2026 at Arena @ EXPO. Because the venue is in the east, fans should plan meal timing and transport before queueing, especially if travelling from the north or west.

How A Fancon Differs

A fancon usually puts more weight on audience interaction than a standard concert. That means the best seat is not only about sound; sightlines, screen visibility and comfort through talk segments also matter.

If fan benefits or entry tiers are released through ticketing channels, compare them carefully before buying. The most expensive ticket is not always the best fit if you mainly want the performance.

Fancons can also involve longer pauses between performance segments, so bring only what you can keep comfortably through a seated or mixed-format show. For younger fans, check whether the timing and exit plan still work after a 10pm finish.

The RE:FLECT fancon mixes performances, conversations and fan moments.

Practical Notes

Bring only essentials into the venue and leave extra time for security checks. Singapore EXPO shows can move large crowds efficiently, but entry still takes longer when fans arrive close to showtime.

After the show, use Expo MRT if possible. For ride-hailing, choose a pickup point away from the immediate exit stream.

Because the fancon ends at night, younger fans should confirm pickup arrangements before doors open. Parents meeting them after the show should avoid waiting directly at the busiest exit and use a clear landmark instead.
