

Pink Pony Comedy Festival 2026 Brings A Full Day Of Queer Comedy To Centre 42

Description

Pink Pony Comedy Festival 2026 takes over Centre 42 on Saturday, 13 June 2026, with a Pride Month line-up running from 12.30pm to 10pm.

Larks Improv Theatre and Siao Char Bors Comedy are presenting the festival with Pink Fest support, building the day around Singapore queer comedy, improv, drag, theatre, burlesque and spoken word.

Programme Highlights

- 12.45pm to 1.30pm: panel chat with Rosie McGowan, Steph Dogfoot and Nicole Ng, moderated by Victor P.
- 2pm to 3pm: Pink Pony Comedy Club, the double-bill that inspired the festival name.
- 4.30pm to 6pm: Pants on Fire, a bluffing and storytelling panel-game show.
- 8pm to 10pm: The Big Gay Variety Show by Siao Char Bors Comedy.

Who Should Go

This is best treated as a festival day rather than a single-show stop. The early sessions lean conversational and improv-heavy, while the night closer is positioned as a larger variety show with multiple performance forms.

Centre 42 is a small arts venue, so capacity can shape the experience. If you are planning around one slot, check the ticket category and timing carefully before arranging dinner or post-show plans.

The programming also gives local audiences a rare chance to see comedy framed through writing, improv and variety performance in one day. That makes it more layered than a standard open-mic night.

Venue Notes

The event listing places the festival at Centre 42 in the Bras Basah and Bugis arts district. That makes it easy to combine with nearby food stops or other arts venues, but it also means weekend crowds around the area can be heavy before evening shows.
