What the early-bird buy includes

Purchases in the early-bird window come with Redmi Buds while stocks last, plus three-month trials of YouTube Premium and Google AI Pro. Both phones also carry a 24-month quality assurance line and one free screen replacement within six months of purchase. Stock and bundle eligibility sit with the seller at checkout.

Chips, cameras and screens

Both phones list a Snapdragon 8 Elite Gen 5 platform and a VisionBoost D8 graphics-boost chipset. The Ultra uses the standard Snapdragon 8 Elite Gen 5 mobile platform. The Pro uses the Snapdragon 8 Elite Gen 5 V Series. Each claims a 200MP main camera with OIS and a 185Hz AMOLED display.

The Pro uses a 6.59-inch panel. The Ultra is about 6.9 inches diagonally.

Camera stacks diverge after the main sensor. The Pro pairs the 200MP unit with a 50MP floating telephoto with OIS and an 8MP ultra-wide. The Ultra keeps a 200MP main, then steps up to a 50MP 5x periscope telephoto with OIS and a 50MP ultra-wide. Battery claims are 6,330mAh typical on the Pro and 8,050mAh typical on the Ultra. Both list 100W wired and 50W wireless HyperCharge. Wireless chargers are sold separately.
