

Porsche 917 KH goes on show at free Raceborn Fest at Guoco Midtown, 9 to 11 October

Description

A 1971 Porsche 917 KH from the Porsche Museum goes on show at the free Raceborn Fest at Guoco Midtown from 9 to 11 October 2026, alongside the Southeast Asian debut of the new 911 Challenge race car.

The 917 KH Kurzheck endurance racer. Photo: Porsche

The Gulf-liveried #21 car won the 1971 Spa 1,000 km with Pedro Rodríguez and Jackie Oliver at an average of 249.069 km/h, including pit stops, on Spa's original 14.1km circuit. Porsche flew the short-tail Kurzheck endurance racer in from Zuffenhausen for Grand Prix Season Singapore.

Where the fest runs

Raceborn Fest takes over Porsche Studio Singapore, 130 Beach Road, #01-12, and the public spaces around Guoco Midtown.

What Raceborn Fest includes

The three-day fest is free and open to the public. Beside the museum 917, Porsche is showing the new 911 Challenge race car, other classic racers, professional racing simulators, and a kids's driving experience with pedal cars. On the night of 9 October, Porsche owners and fans meet at Guoco Midtown Carpark A, Level 6, for a community car meet with Cars & Kopi.

Visitors can also expect a preview of the Porsche Experience Centre Singapore, planned to open in Changi in 2027. Raceborn Fest is a Grand Prix Season Singapore programme partner running through the Formula 1 race weekend.

Date Created

02/10/2026

Author

vanessakoh

default watermark