

ROG Xbox Ally X20 Singapore price is S$2,099, with pre-orders opening 16 November

Description

default watermark

The ROG Xbox Ally X20 Singapore price is S$2,099, and pre-orders open today, 16 November 2026. Retail stock is meant to reach shops islandwide in December. This is the 20th anniversary Republic of Gamers handheld, and it is sold on its own here, without the AR glasses it was first bundled with.

ROG Xbox Ally X20 Singapore price and pre-order perks

You can buy it from the ASUS Online Store and authorised retailers across Singapore. Early orders through the ASUS Online Store or the ASUS Exclusive Store at Funan come with a free 30cm ROG SAGA OMNI Plush Pal, worth S$54.90, while stocks last. Every unit also includes two months of Xbox Game Pass Premium, subject to terms.

Do note that December is a target, not a fixed date. If you want one under the tree, pre-ordering is the safer way to secure a unit.

REPUBLIC OF GAMERS
EST. 2006
ANNIVERSARY

Source: ASUS Republic of Gamers

What you get for the money

- Screen: 7.4-inch ROG Nebula HDR OLED, 120Hz, up to 1,400 nits HDR, Dolby Vision, FreeSync Premium Pro
- Chip: AMD Ryzen AI Z2 Extreme with Radeon 890M graphics
- Memory and storage: 24GB LPDDR5X, 1TB SSD, plus a microSD Express slot
- Battery: 80Wh with fast charging
- Weight: 756g
- OS: Windows 11 Home

That screen is the big upgrade. OLED on a handheld means proper blacks, which suits moody games far better than the older LCD panels do. The translucent black shell with gold accents is also a bit show-off, in a good way, and the cooling system is partly visible through it.

default watermark

Controls and comfort

ASUS has swapped in TMR thumbsticks, which should resist the drift that plagues older sticks. The D-pad transforms between 4-way and 8-way input, and the face buttons are flatter. At the back you get rubberised grips and impulse triggers with HD haptics.

Source: ASUS Republic of Gamers

At 756g it is not light, so expect arm fatigue in long sessions on the MRT. You can also connect it by USB-C to a TV or monitor, and pair Bluetooth controllers and headsets for couch play at home.

Should you wait for Black Friday?

S$2,099 is firmly premium territory. The older ROG Xbox Ally X remains on sale globally, so if you do not need OLED, the cheaper models are worth a look. I could not confirm current Singapore prices for those, so check the ASUS Singapore product page before you decide.

If you are also eyeing other gadgets this season, we have rounded up the Samsung Singapore Black Friday 2026 offers.

Pre-orders run through the ASUS Online Store, the Funan exclusive store and authorised retailers. Plush toy or no plush toy, read the terms and the warranty before you pay. The Funan store is the easiest place to see the hardware in person if you want to feel the grips first, since it is a short walk from City Hall MRT.

Date Created
16/11/2026
Author
vanessakoh

default watermark