Shared Table opened to the public on 14 September 2026 at Bishan-Ang Mo Kio Park (Bishan Park 2), 1382 Ang Mo Kio Avenue 1, as a wellness-leaning cafe with a pet-friendly outdoor stretch beside Aramsa â?? The Garden Spa.

Co-founders are Jerls Su of Average Service at Jalan Besar and Jazreel Low, who still owns Aramsa next door. The site previously housed Canopy Garden Dining for about 16 years under Lowâ??s earlier company. The new room seats about 110, with wood and green finishes and floor-to-ceiling glass looking onto the park. A lounge can convert to a private space, and the alfresco zone has its own bar.

What it costs on the published menu

The signature all-day order is the Nourish Plate, from S$21.90. You pick one grain, one protein and two sides, with soup of the day, in the Japanese ichiju-sansai format the founders cite. A baked-halibut version is listed at S$24.90. Nothing on the menu is fried, according to the opening coverage.

Grain options include lemon herbed rice and couscous with furikake and kombu. Proteins on the published list include honey-glazed smoked duck, baked halibut with capsicum escabeche, honey miso salmon, ginger sesame oil chicken thigh, Hainanese sous vide chicken breast, lemongrass chicken thigh and gongbao tempeh with cashew nuts as a plant option on the sides board.

Other a la carte lines include grilled chicken skewers at S$14.90, hummus with roasted mushrooms at S$18.90, and protein pancakes with caramelised banana at S$17.90 (listed with 32g of protein). Coffee starts from S$6.50 from a Brawn and Brains blend made for the cafe. Herbal teas from Tily Tea start from S$7 on the opening menu notes.
