

Singapore Airlines Promo Fares: 74 Destinations From $158, Book By 10 September

Description

If a trip has been sitting in your notes app for months, the Singapore Airlines promo fares sale is the nudge to actually book it. From 21 August to 10 September 2026, SIA has released fares to 74 destinations, bookable for outbound travel all the way through to 31 July 2027. That is an unusually long runway to use a sale fare, which makes this one worth planning around rather than rushing.

Economy fares start from $158, and the spread covers Southeast Asia, North Asia, West Asia, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Europe and the Americas. Whether you are after a quick weekend run or banking miles for a long-haul trip next year, there is likely a destination on this list that fits.

Where the Best Value Sits

Within Southeast Asia, Kuala Lumpur leads at $158 return economy, with Penang from $208 and Bali from $298. North Asia fares are a step up but still reasonable: Hong Kong from $358, Hangzhou from $398 and Taipei from $428.

The banner features the DBS logo with the tagline 'Live more, Bank less' in the top left. A large red box in the center contains the text 'Get S$50 off flights per person' in white. A diagonal watermark reading 'default watermark' is overlaid across the center. Below the red box, the text 'Live WONDERFUL with DBS/POSB Cards' is displayed. To the right, a row of various DBS and POSB credit cards is shown. Further right is the 'DBS PayLah!' logo and the text 'More deals on PayLah!'. The bottom left corner of the banner area includes the text 'T&Cs apply.'.

It is worth checking your existing cards before booking, since these promo codes are not automatically applied and each one comes with its own booking window and blackout conditions.

Before You Book

Fares shown are indicative • prices and subject to availability on your specific dates, so the number you see on this list may shift once you actually search flights. Blackout periods apply on some routes, and the promo runs only until 10 September 2026 for new bookings, even though travel itself can stretch out to July 2027. If a route on this list has been on your radar, this is the window to lock in the price rather than wait and hope it comes around again.
