

Singapore Airlines Sale: Return Fares From $158, Booking Closes 10 September

Description

The current run of Singapore Airlines promo fares closes for booking on 10 September 2026, and there are 74 destinations in it. Kuala Lumpur starts at S$158 return. Perth and Darwin are S$548. Istanbul is S$838, which is the cheapest way into Europe on the list.

Every price below is all-in return economy from Singapore, taxes and surcharges included, per adult. SIA is explicit about that in its own FAQ, so no nasty surprise at the payment screen. Outbound travel runs to 31 July 2027, selected periods only.

Southeast Asia, where the cheap seats are

- Kuala Lumpur: $158
- Penang: $208
- Phnom Penh: $248
- Phuket: $248
- Ho Chi Minh City: $258
- Medan: $258
- Siem Reap: $258
- Denpasar: $298
- Manila: $318
- Hanoi: $328
- Bangkok: $338
- Da Nang: $358
- Jakarta: $358

Denpasar at $298 on a full-service carrier with checked bags and a meal is the value pick of the whole table. Bali on a budget airline plus baggage plus a seat often lands in the same neighbourhood.

North Asia

- Hong Kong: $358
- Guangzhou, Hangzhou, Shenzhen: $398
- Xiamen: $408
- Taipei: $428
- Beijing and Chengdu: $448
- Seoul and Shanghai: $568
- Busan: $618
- Osaka: $808
- Fukuoka and Nagoya: $908
- Tokyo: $1,008

Japan is holding firm, as it has all year. Busan at $618 against Seoul at $568 is only a $50 gap, and Busan in autumn is a lot less crowded.

Australia and New Zealand

- Darwin and Perth: $548
- Sydney: $588
- Melbourne: $688
- Cairns: $708
- Brisbane: $788
- Adelaide: $998

- Auckland: $1,288
- Christchurch: $1,488

Sydney at $588 return is the one to move on. Perth Business Class at $3,198 is the cheapest long-haul Business fare in the sale, if you have been saving for a lie-flat trial run.

South Asia, West Asia and Africa

- Chennai: $338
- Bengaluru: $378
- Mumbai: $388
- Delhi: $398
- Ahmedabad and Hyderabad: $428
- Kolkata: $438
- Kochi: $478
- Dhaka: $588
- Colombo: $608

- Maldives: $758
- Kathmandu: $808
- Cape Town: $1,358
- Johannesburg: $1,398

Europe, and the travel windows that decide the price

Europe is where you have to read the small print. Several headline fares only apply within specific outbound windows, and outside them the price jumps.

- Istanbul: $838, outbound 18 Jan to 11 Mar 2027 only
- Frankfurt: $848 for outbound 1 Nov to 2 Dec 2026, 18 Jan to 11 Mar 2027, or 1 to 31 May 2027. Otherwise $998.
- Munich: $848, outbound 1 Nov to 2 Dec 2026 or 18 Jan to 11 Mar 2027
- Paris: $848 for outbound 1 to 30 Nov 2026. Otherwise $998.
- Amsterdam: $998 for outbound 21 Aug to 22 Oct 2026. Otherwise $1,488.
- Brussels: $998, outbound 1 to 30 Nov 2026, 18 Jan to 11 Mar 2027, or 1 to 31 May 2027
- Madrid and Rome: $998
- London: $1,088 for outbound 1 Nov to 2 Dec 2026 or 18 Jan to 11 Mar 2027. Otherwise $1,188.
- Barcelona, Manchester and Milan: $1,138
- Zurich: $1,288
- Copenhagen: $1,488

The Amsterdam window closes on 22 October and then the fare nearly doubles. If Amsterdam is on your list, that is the one with a real clock on it.

The Americas, and one genuine oddity

- Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle: $1,188 economy
- New York: no economy fare published. Premium Economy is $1,768.

That New York Premium Economy fare is cheaper than Premium Economy to LA, San Francisco or Seattle. On a flight that long, the extra legroom is not a luxury purchase, and there is no economy fare competing with it anyway.

Stack a card code on top

Three bank offers sit alongside the sale, and two of them are worth planning around.

- HSBCDEAL, 25 to 31 August 2026, from 10am today. S$60 off per return ticket, up to two passengers, so up to $120. Singapore-issued HSBC card. It excludes all of Southeast Asia, so it will not touch that $158 KL fare.
- DBS50OFF, 8 to 14 September 2026 from 10am. S$50 off the return nett fare, all cabin classes including Suites, all destinations, up to two passengers. Note the overlap: 8, 9 and 10 September are the last three days of the sale, which is the stacking sweet spot.
- Mastercard, 21 August to 10 September. S$50 of KrisPay miles with min spend of S$1,000 on a KrisFlyer UOB Mastercard or S$1,200 on any other Mastercard. You must be a Kris+ member and register separately, and it is limited to the first 200 redemptions.

Discounts apply to the nett fare only, not to taxes, insurance, excess baggage or seat selection. Promo code bookings are non-refundable. The Citi Prestige code still on the page expired in July and is marked fully redeemed, so ignore it.

Read these before you pay

- Return bookings only. There are no one-way promo fares in this sale.
- Blackout periods apply and SIA does not publish the list. They bite at the fare search stage.
- Minimum and maximum stay conditions exist but are not published either. If a fare will not show, that is often why.
- Most promo fares earn KrisFlyer miles, at a rate that varies by booking class and status.
- Baggage, changes and cancellation depend on whether you book Lite, Standard or Flexi. Economy Lite allows no changes at all.

Book at singaporeair.com. There is no companion offer this round, and no matching Scoot sale running alongside it. If you are heading somewhere on this list, our guides to Vietnam entry requirements and the direct Okinawa route are useful groundwork. For something closer, there is always a Bintan weekend.

Sixteen days left on the booking window. The fares that will go first are Sydney, Perth and the November Paris window, because they always do.
