Singapore Cat Festival takes over Hall 6 at Singapore EXPO on Saturday 7 and Sunday 8 November 2026, open 10am to 8pm both days. Tickets are sold only online through Eventbrite; there is no walk-in counter at the door.

Atomic Events Global organises the weekend, with Income as presenting sponsor. Hall 6 sits at 1 Expo Drive, a short walk from Expo MRT on the East West and Downtown lines. The festival site builds the two days around a cat marketplace, a CFA show, adoption booths, artist stalls and oversized photo sets.

Marketplace, photo zones and Artist Alley

The marketplace is the spine of the weekend, with more than 100 exhibitors selling cat products, essentials, lifestyle goods, treats and accessories. Artist Alley sits beside it for local cat-inspired merchandise, handmade crafts, illustrations and art prints.

Interactive photo zones fill part of the hall with giant cat inflatables and larger structures built for photographs.

CFA show, adoption and a quieter corner

A CFA Cat Show, presented by the Feline Fanciers Society of Singapore (FFSS), features pedigreed and household cats competing before international judges. Visitors can get up close to a variety of breeds and learn more about feline standards, characteristics and responsible cat ownership.

An adoption drive shares the floor with animal welfare groups for meet-and-greets, fostering information and volunteering leads. A quiet movie screening runs through wireless headphones between the stalls. Food and beverage options and dedicated rest areas sit off the main aisle when you need a break.

Exclusive goodie bags with brand samples go out while stocks last. Image: Singapore Cat Festival

Exclusive goodie bags, packed with samples and treats from participating brands, go out while stocks last. Only pet cats are allowed in, and only in secure carriers; other pets stay outside. Owners clean up after their own cats. Bring some cash, because not every exhibitor takes cards.
