Description

Singapore Garden Festival 2026 runs from 4 to 12 July at Gardens by the Bay, with the main festival open from 10am to 10pm and last admission at 9.30pm.

The Flower Dome component opens earlier, from 9am to 9pm, with last admission at 8.30pm. Plan that first if the conservatory displays are the main reason for your visit, because it closes before the wider festival grounds.

Ticket Notes

Singapore residents have resident ticket rates, and proof of residency or a local bank card may be required. If proof cannot be produced, visitors may need to top up to the standard ticket category.

Groups buying 30 or more tickets can enquire about bulk discounts of up to 25%. That makes the festival easier to plan for schools, community clubs, gardening groups and company outings.

Festival programming includes specialist floral and botanical sessions for enthusiasts.

Special Programmes

The Floral Windows to the World Championship Finals Dinner is priced at S$350 on 6 July. It includes admission to Singapore Garden Festival and Flower Dome from 4 to 7 July, so it is aimed at visitors who want a deeper floristry experience rather than a casual walk-through.

A floristry workshop with Ahti Lyra is priced at S$450 on 7 July, with materials, tools and lunch included. For most families, a standard festival ticket will be enough; the paid add-ons make more sense for floral-design enthusiasts or visitors planning around the competition programme.

Floral Windows to the World returns as one of the specialist programmes during the festival.
