A Night of Recognition for Singapore Sport

The ceremony brought together finalists, athletes, coaches and members of Singapore's sporting fraternity to celebrate the nation's sporting highlights of 2025. It was a particularly proud night for Singapore bowling, with New Hui Fen doubling up as both an individual award winner and a member of the winning HKGX IBF World Championship team.

The Meritorious Award for Best Sports Story went to renowned journalist Rohit Brijnath of The Straits Times, recognising a feature on a Singaporean athlete who readied herself to compete even as she grieved the loss of her brother – a testament to the human spirit that sport so often captures.

Best Sports Photo: A Fencing Moment That Captured Hearts

The Best Sports Photo of the Year was awarded to Kelly Wong for a stunning image from the 2025 SEA Games in Bangkok â?? showing Team Singaporeâ??s fencer Amita Berthier forming a heart shape with her opponent from the Philippines using their sabres during the Womenâ??s Foil Team final. It is the kind of image that transcends sport: a gesture of friendship, sportsmanship, and shared humanity, immortalised on film.

Looking ahead, Singaporeâ??s athletes are preparing for the 2026 Commonwealth Games in Glasgow, as covered in our Team Singapore Commonwealth Games preview. You can also revisit the Singapore Sports Awards 2026 finalists preview to see who was in contention. All Singapore sports coverage is on the LBRD Sports page.

A memorable evening at the Sands Expo, and a fitting tribute to Singaporeâ??s sporting heroes of 2025.
