

Summer Smash Junior Camp Lets Kids Try Tennis, Pickleball And Padel

Description

Summer Smash Junior Camp gives primary-school children a compact way to try three racquet sports during the June holiday period. The camp runs from 22 to 24 June 2026 at Four Seasons Hotel Singapore, with daily sessions from 8.30am to noon.

The ActiveSG Circle event listing describes a three-day programme for children aged 7 to 10, covering tennis, pickleball and padel drills, guided gameplay and friendly competition on the hotel's outdoor courts.

What Parents Should Know

The camp is led by Ken Smith, Owner and Director of 40XV, a former ATP and US collegiate player with nearly two decades of international playing and coaching experience. That makes it more structured than a casual court rental, while still being short enough for children who are testing interest rather than committing to a term programme.

The listed fee is S$380++ per participant. It includes guided drills, structured play, mini games, daily light refreshments, a certificate and a goodie bag. Parents should factor in Orchard traffic and drop-off timing because the sessions begin early.

- Dates: 22 to 24 June 2026.
- Time: 8.30am to noon daily.
- Age range: 7 to 10 years old.
- Listed fee: S$380++ per participant.

Best Fit

This suits children who already enjoy ball games, but it can also work as a low-pressure sampler before parents commit to lessons. Tennis gives the classic racquet base, pickleball lowers the entry barrier, and padel adds a doubles-friendly court format that many Singapore families are now curious about.

Registration details are listed via ActiveSG Circle and the Four Seasons camp page. For more family sports options, browse our Sports coverage.
