Sushiro opens at Bukit Panjang Plaza with 1-for-1 sushi to 12 November

Description

default watermark

Bukit Panjang finally has its own Sushiro. The Japanese conveyor-belt chainâ??s newest outlet sits on the second floor of Bukit Panjang Plaza, and it comes with two weeks of 1-for-1 sushi and S$6++ drinks to pull in the neighbourhood. If you live in the north-west and have been taking the bus to Lot One in Choa Chu Kang or Causeway Point in Woodlands for your salmon plates, this one is for you.

The grand opening deals run from 30 October to 12 November. Image: Sushiro Singapore

What the grand opening deals cover

The opening promotion runs from 30 October to 12 November. Sushi goes 1-for-1, and the second portion arrives on the same plate rather than as a separate plate on the belt, so one plate carries double the sushi. Ask the staff which plates are in the deal on the day you go.

Three drinks drop to S$6++ each for the same two weeks:

- Lemon sour, usually S$8++
- Suntory The Premium Maltâ??s draught beer, usually S$10.50++
- Kaku highball, usually S$9++

The sure-win gachapon for diners spending S$50 or more was an opening-day special on 30 October only, so that one has come and gone.

default watermark

default watermark

The second part of Sushiroâ??s October limited menu runs until 3 November. Image: Sushiro Singapore

The limited menu running alongside

Bukit Panjang opens in the middle of the second part of Sushiroâ??s October limited menu, which runs at every outlet until 3 November while stocks last. The headline plates are the Miyako salmon trout taste and compare from Japanâ??s Sanriku Rias coast at S$2.90++ and a fatty swordfish at S$2.90++.

The rest of the line-up leans on soy sauce koji, a fermented seasoning of soy sauce and koji, across four fish:

- Soy sauce koji fresh salmon, S$2.90++
- Soy sauce koji engawa, S$2.30++
- Soy sauce koji yellowtail, S$3.90++
- Soy sauce koji red snapper, S$4.90++

default watermark

Pufferfish fans get two fugu plates at S$4.90++ each, and the bancha braised octopus uses Hokkaido mizudako at S$3.90++. Prices differ at the Digiro outlet in Mandai Wildlife Reserve.

default watermark
SUSH

Tuna, ikura, unagi and salmon from Sushiroâ??s regular menu. Photo: Sushiro Singapore

Where Sushiro goes next

Bukit Panjang is the first of three new Sushiro outlets on the calendar. Great World follows at the end of November at #01-112/113/114, and Funan comes next in early December at #02-16. Taste Orchard, on the other hand, has closed for good, which leaves Wisma Atria, Isetan Scotts and Orchard Gateway as the Orchard Road options. Parkway Parade is temporarily closed.

App reservations for Bukit Panjang opened on 24 October, and booking ahead through the Sushiro app is the sensible move for a new outlet in its first weekends.

default watermark

Sushiro Great World is due to open at the end of November. Image: Sushiro Singapore (artistâ??s impression)

Sushiro Bukit Panjang Plaza details

Address: 1 Jelebu Road, #02-17/17A/18/18A/19/19A, Bukit Panjang Plaza, Singapore 677743

Hours: 11am to 10pm daily, last order 9.30pm

Grand opening promotion: 30 October to 12 November 2026

Reservations: Sushiro Singapore app

Other outlets: Sushiro Singapore locations

Date Created
31/10/2026
Author
meichua

default watermark