Shopping:

When driving, you will notice 2 major malls namely AEON Tebrau City and Toppen Mall which also houses IKEA.

AEON Tebrau City [3]

A prominent shopping destination, remains a favorite among many, thanks to its diverse range of shops. The recently renovated AEON supermarket is spacious and ideal for your grocery needs.

Toppen Mall [4]

Located just opposite AEON Tebrau City, Toppen Mall houses anchor tenants like IKEA and Decathlon. Apart from anchor tenants, you can also find many familiar international brands and eateries in the mall. You can easily spend half a day here if you are visiting all the anchor tenants.

Lunch:

Soong Huat Bak Kut Teh [5]

With a car, why not drive out and explore local eats? Bak Kut Teh is a popular option for many Singaporeans and just adjacent to Toppen Mall, there is a local Bak Kut Teh shop popular with locals â?? Soong Huat Bak Kut Teh. This local favorite serves up delicious pork rib soup, perfect for satisfying your midday hunger.

Just two months ago, a new addition to this bustling neighbourhood was unveiled â?? Nanyang Street [6]. This vibrant strip instantly captured the attention of food enthusiasts, transforming Austin Heights into an even more exciting dining haven. You can find many cafes, local eat and tea houses. There are considerably a good handful of shops which open till as late as 12am. When the sun goes down, you will see shops setting up their camping tables and chairs outside their shops.
