

Tamagotchi Paradise Lab Tama is still live at Toys??R??Us VivoCity

Description

Toys??R??Us VivoCity still has a full Tamagotchi Paradise floor set running, with Orange Tropics and White Glacier shells on the headers and a working Lab Tama station collectors can plug into.

Photo: Little Big Red Dot / Toys“R“Us VivoCity

The end-cap banners read All New Tamagotchi Paradise, with the lines Nurturing with a spin, Zoom into Paradise, and More than 30 new characters. Orange Tropics (pink shell with orange rim) and White Glacier (white and pastel) are the shells called out on the display.

default watermark

Photo: Toys"R"Us Singapore / Bandai

default watermark

Photo: Toys"R"Us Singapore / Bandai

On the Toys"R"Us Singapore site, both Tamagotchi Paradise Orange Tropics and White Glacier list at S$79.99. Other Paradise shells on the same category page include Pink Land, Blue Water, Purple Sky and Jade Forest. Online stock can show unavailable even when a mall bay is still dressed, so the floor display is the useful check.

default watermark

Photo: Toys“R“Us Singapore / Bandai

How Lab Tama works on the floor

The giant white egg is labelled Tamagotchi Lab. A store notice titled Time Limit for Lab Tama Usage asks guests to re-queue after each play and to do only one of three things per turn: download all exclusive items, play the mini game once, or breed. Staff may refuse another round if the limit is ignored.

default watermark

Photo: Little Big Red Dot / Toys"R"Us VivoCity

The dock tray says to insert a Tamagotchi Uni or Paradise device and push it toward the Lab Tama unit. The LAB TAMA menu on the screen offers Download, Mini Game and Breed. The unit UI also shows Care and Download buttons when a character is on screen.

Where else to look in Singapore

The confirmed Lab Tama in mid-September 2026 is the Toys"R"Us VivoCity unit at 1 HarbourFront Walk, #02-173/174. Paradise devices themselves are sold across the Toys"R"Us Singapore network, including Suntec City, Jewel Changi Airport, JEM, Tampines Mall, Bugis Junction, Great World, Paragon, Forum, United Square, City Square, Parkway Parade and Waterway Point – call ahead for Orange Tropics or White Glacier stock.

Lab Tama stations also turn up from time to time at other toy floors, including selected Don Don Donki outlets (Suntec and Orchard have hosted units before) and Kiddy Palace pop-ups. Those machines move and get pulled without much notice, so treat anything outside VivoCity as call-before-you-go rather than a standing address.

Beside the VivoCity station, shelves hold Tamagotchi Pitta silicone cases and other Bandai Namco Tamagotchi stock. Bring a Paradise or Uni unit if you want the exclusive downloads or a breed session, then queue again if you need a second turn – the sign is clear that one action is one play.

Date Created

12/09/2026

Author

priya