The Tech Show 2026 opens at Suntec Singapore Convention and Exhibition Centre on Friday, 13 November, and runs to Sunday, 15 November, with free entry across Levels 3 and 4.

Organiser COMEXIT Group, which ran COMEX 2026 in the same halls in September, bills it as its year-end lifestyle tech fair, built around smart home, audio, work tech and everyday lifestyle tech. The headline numbers are 350-plus brands, 100-plus product launches and more than 1,000 show deals. The exhibitor list has not been released.

Opening hours differ by floor

Level 3 opens at 11am and Level 4 at noon, and both close at 9pm on all three days. The lucky draw and Spend and Redeem counters sit on Level 4, so neither runs before 12pm. The nearest MRT stations are Promenade and Esplanade.

That split matters for the daily Wow Deals, which are limited-quantity items released one day at a time through the free Show Guide account. Fridayâ??s line-up includes the 1MORE Ear Clip S20 earbuds at S$5, capped at 200 units, at booth 8001, and a Jisulife Handheld Fan 9 at booth 8121. Saturdayâ??s Tessan 28W travel adapter and Sundayâ??s Logitech M331 Silent Plus mouse are teased with their prices hidden until the day. Tapping Redeem in the app does not hold a unit; the sale is confirmed only at the booth.

The year-end cash rebate has two routes and tight caps

The showâ??s year-end cash rebate is themed on the number 67, and shoppers can take one option or the other, not both.

- Option 1, tier rewards: S$50 back on S$3,000 to S$5,000 spent, S$100 on S$5,001 to S$10,000, and S$200 above S$10,000. Up to three same-day receipts can be combined, and each tier is capped at 67 customers a day.
- Option 2, Spot 67: a S$67 rebate when the digits 6 and 7 appear consecutively in the final amount of a single receipt of at least S$67. Only 67 customers across the whole show qualify.

Both options pay out by PayNow to a mobile number only, not NRIC or UEN. Successful applicants are notified by email if selected, and the money arrives within 14 working days. Hitting a tier is not the same as being paid.

A minimum spend of S$200, from up to three receipts, earns one lucky draw entry per Show Guide account. The prize pool is put at S$300,000.

Spending S$500 or more unlocks a S$10 Best Denki voucher at the Spend and Redeem counter outside Hall 401, one per account and limited each day. The voucher works only at the Best Denki booth and only during the show.

Exhibitor prices for laptops, phones and appliances have not been released ahead of opening. The organiser publishes Wow Deals, launches and show offers in the free Show Guide.
