

Tim Ho Wan PEAK At Marina Bay Sands: Menu, Prices And Opening Guide

Description

Tim Ho Wan PEAK has opened at Marina Bay Sands as an elevated version of the familiar dim sum brand. The restaurant combines Marina Bay views with the baked barbecue pork buns and steamed dishes associated with Tim Ho Wan, then adds plates created for this location.

The official restaurant page positions it as a sit-down destination rather than a quick mall stop. Diners should expect the final bill to include service charge and prevailing GST where stated.

What Makes The PEAK Outlet Different

The setting is the most immediate distinction: the dining room is designed around views from Marina Bay Sands. That makes the outlet suitable for a visitor meal, business lunch or family occasion where the room matters as much as a basket of dim sum.

The menu retains recognisable signatures while introducing PEAK-only items. Official highlights include a wagyu beef puff with black pepper, offering a richer counterpart to the brand's well-known baked pork bun.

- Location: Marina Bay Sands.
- Format: full-service dim sum restaurant.
- Menu mix: Tim Ho Wan signatures plus PEAK exclusives.

How To Order For A Table

Build the first round across textures: one baked item, one steamed dumpling, a rice or noodle dish and vegetables. Ordering in stages helps a small group avoid filling the table with baskets that cool before they are shared.

Ask about portion counts for dim sum and the size of larger plates. A group of three or four can usually sample more dishes economically than two diners if everyone agrees on dietary preferences first.

- State allergies before ordering.
- Confirm whether a dish contains pork, shellfish or alcohol-based seasoning.
- Reserve ahead for a specific view or busy weekend period.

Getting There

Use Bayfront MRT and follow the Marina Bay Sands mall signs to the restaurant. The complex is large, so allow additional walking time if arriving from the hotel, theatre or casino side.
