Set in the picturesque coastal town of Kinmen Island, Taiwan, Breeze By The Sea weaves the lives, challenges and collective dreams.

The story is set in the picturesque coastal town of Kinmen Island, Taiwan, where the main character, played by Chen Bo Lin (???), is seeking refuge after a series of scandals clouded his public image as a superstar. Joining the cast is Puff Kuo (???) from Taiwan, and our very own Hong Hui Fang (???) and Fann Wong (???) from Singapore.

The director Peter Ho (???) , known for his role in his earlier days as Cloud (???) in the drama version of The Storm Riders (??), shares that “Breeze By The Sea” contains snippets of his personal challenges and joyous moments in his life. Peter added that this drama is meant to spread more joy and love to the audience amidst the recent production of dark and sinister genre.

We managed to speak with Hong Hui Fang aka ???, one of Singapore's most recognised veterans in the acting industry. Despite her years in acting, she remains excited with opportunities to learn from her cast on portraying her role convincingly. She sought details such as the traditional mindset of a typical Grandma born and bred in rural parts of Taiwan.

She is super friendly and such a joy when sharing her shooting experience in Kinmen, Taiwan.

Her earliest appearance as I can remember is the “Samsui Women” that was aired in 1986 by the Singapore Broadcasting Corporation. Back then, TV was all that we had for entertainment so it was part of my childhood memories. She could not believe I knew about the show as I probably look too young to have watched it. humble brag

Catch our interview with veteran actress Hong Hui Fang (???)! here. She shares her experience starring in the highly anticipated Taiwanese drama Breeze By The Sea (???????) and gives us a peek into her favorite food recommendations from the picturesque coastal town of Kinmen Island, where the drama was filmed.
