

World Christmas Market at Marina Bay Now Free Entry Amid Wet Weather

Description

If you're heading to Marina Bay for festive vibes, here's good news – Togetherland by the World Christmas Market is now free to enter. The organiser, Oceanus Media Global, announced that entry fees have been waived due to wet weather expected throughout December 2025.

Previously, the festival required an $8 ticket, but it has now become a non-ticketed event on most days, making it easier for visitors to enjoy the holiday atmosphere without worrying about admission charges.

• Refunds for Ticket Holders

Those who already purchased tickets won't lose out as they can collect a full refund in the form of vouchers of equivalent value by presenting their tickets at the on-site registration counter.

Two Exceptions Still Require Paid Entry

Free entry applies daily except for two key dates:

- Christmas Eve
- New Year's Eve

Admission for these two nights will be packaged as a special celebration bundle, and the organiser said details will be shared soon.

• What to Expect at the Market

The market is held at Bayfront Event Space, running from Dec 11, 2025 to Jan 4, 2026. Visitors can expect plenty of festive attractions, including:

- Over 40 food and beverage concepts

- Around 60 retail booths
- A daily musical titled “The Brightest Christmas Star” (7:45pm)
- Pet-friendly zones, plus rides and activities for kids
- Live performances from local acts
- A sparkling light tunnel and an 8m Christmas tree decorated with 1,500 mirrorballs

Extended Hours for New Year’s Eve

The event will also run longer on New Year’s Eve, as part of the Marina Bay Singapore Countdown 2026, operating from 4pm on Dec 31 to 1am on Jan 1.
